Arab Guns Break Jewish Hold on Jerusalem

LATE NEWS

Police Comb City for Hotel Firebug

Atlanta police and fire inspectors early Wednesday launched an intensive search of the city for a white man who allegedly set fire to a downtown hotel.

Calling it a "deliberate" attempt to burn the Midtown Hotel, 77 Pryor St., N. E., police said the man, who escaped unnoticed in the excitement caused by the arrival of fire fighting equipment, had registered in the hotel only a short while before the blaze was discovered.

Investigating officers said the man apparently saturated with rubbing alcohol a pile of rubbish which had been placed near a window on the fifth floor of the building. Flames were extinguished without serious damage to the hotel.

Two Spectacular Blazes Strike Mobile

MOBILE, Ala., May 18—(AP)—Two brief, but spectacular fires raced through the Gulf, Mobile & Ohio Railway shops and the Alabama Naval Stores Company storage yards here Tuesday night.

An unidentified Negro was injured and several firemen were overcome by smoke in battling the two blazes, located about four blocks apart.

G. P. Brock, Vice President and General Manager of the G. M. & O., estimated damage to the shops at more than $100,000. Twenty-two empty railway freight cars were destroyed and several frame shop buildings were burned.

The Naval Stores Company was unable to make an estimate of its loss.

Nearly every piece of fire-fighting equipment in the city was called out.

Dewey, Taft Joining Forces---Stassen

ROSEBURG, Ore., May 18—(AP)—Harold E. Stassen said here Tuesday night that Dewey and Taft forces were combined to stop him in his bid for the Republican Presidential nomination.

At the climax of a heavy campaigning day in which he traveled nearly the width of the state of Oregon, Stassen told a Roseburg audience: "It is apparent that we face a combination of opposition."

He named Sen. Taft, of Ohio, as a member of this "opposing combination."

Dewey has flatly denied joining with Taft in a "stop Stassen" effort. He scouted the recurrent rumors of a "combination" as "pure fiction."

Reds Stopped in Greece, Aid Chief Says

NEW YORK, May 18—(INS)—Dwight Griswold, chief of the American aid program in Greece, said Tuesday that Communism has been stopped in Greece by the flow of American dollars and supplies.

Griswold landed at LaGuardia Field after a 51-hour flight from Athens. He is en route to Washington to make a first-hand report to the State Department and ERP Administrator Paul Hoffman.

The aid program chief said:

"As a result of American efforts and because of the American aid program, Greece is a free and independent nation as of this moment.

Communism has been stopped.

"The American money definitely kept Greece from going Communist."

Reds Blast U. S. for Korean Power Bill

SEOUL, Korea, Wednesday, May 19—(UP)—The Communist Puppet Government of North Korea warned today that the flow of electricity into American-occupied Southern Korea will remain cut off until the Americans pay the full bill for power already received.

A spokesman for the North Korean Peoples Committee charged American Occupation Comander Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge with having "concealed the truth" about the problem.

Hodge must bear full responsibility for the situation which "forced" North Korea to shut off the flow of power, Kim Tchaik, Vice Chairman of the Soviet-sponsored Committee, said in a statement broadcast by the Communist radio at Pyongyang, Capital of the Russian-occupied Zone.

Wife's Visit To Area Rumored

While Atlanta identification officers devoted themselves to plastering the likeness of Jesse James Roberts over the nation, attention of Georgia officers Tuesday was directed to Tifton, where the imaginative and elusive alleged auto thief's wife was said to have been seen.

Sheriff B. S. Hudson, of Worth County, where Roberts originally was arrested, said Mrs. Roberts, the former Marjorie Hudson (no relation to the Sheriff) had been seen by childhood friends and acquaintances in downtown Tifton Monday afternoon.

The young woman's mother, Mrs. Leon Aultman, lives 12 miles from Sylvester, seat of Worth County, but Mrs. Roberts had not been to see her and had not been seen in that County, the Sheriff said. He quoted acquaintances as saying they spoke to the escapee's wife.

A report late Tuesday that Roberts was seen in an East Atlanta pool room sent several squads of police cars racing to the scene. When they arrived, however, officers were unable to locate anyone who had seen a man of Roberts' description in the area.

A thorough search of the entire community also failed to produce a lead.

Meanwhile, identification officers were working at top speed to print and distribute enough pictures of Roberts to enable law enforcement officers throughout the country to recognize the escapee on sight.

Roberts' brother-in-law, S. R. Hooker, previously identified as Hooper, who was in the cell with him at the time Roberts escaped from the City jail, was indicted by a Fulton County Grand Jury Tuesday for issuing fictitious checks. Hooker, according to Det. Supt. E. I. Hilderbrand, told officers he and Roberts had laid another scheme for escape prior to the smooth getaway which Roberts effected early Sunday. Their plan was to call the turnkey into the cell, knock him out and then let Roberts don the turnkey's uniform and walk out. Instead, Roberts took the identification papers of John W. Weatherly, who was also in the cell, and walked boldly to the desk, where he made bond and was released.

Hooker allegedly passed a check for $27.50 made out to a garage on Ivy Street and signed it "S. R. Malone."

COSTELLO GRIEF ON WCON'S MENU

A horse named "Peanut Butter," a refugee from a rendering factory is responsible for most of Lou Costello's grief during tonight's ABC broadcast of the Abbott and Costello Show at 9 p. m. over WCON. As partner Bud Abbott puts it, "there's nothing wrong with the nag that a well-placed atom bomb wouldn't cure," and, despite a certain pale sense of loyalty to the animal, Lou is forced to agree.

Listen to the two funny men tonight, and stay tuned to 55 for such programs as the sensational give-away show "Go For The House," Bing Crosby and others.

Tel Aviv Has Worst Air Attack

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

King Abdullah's Trans-Jordan Arab Legion turned its heavy guns on Jewish positions in Jerusalem Tuesday and the Jewish hold on the Holy City was being broken.

Tel Aviv, capital of the new state of Israel, underwent its worst air attack when a dive bombing plane — identified as Egyptian—hit a civilian bus terminal in midtown. The dead may number 20.

Associated Press Correspondent Daniel De Luce, writing from within the Old City of Jerusalem, said Haganah positions in the Jewish Quarter of the Old City and on the slopes of adjoining Montefiore sector have been under heavy accurate attack of Legion howitzers.

He said the Legion launched its attack about 4 p. m. and shelling which ceased at dusk was virtually certain to resume Wednesday (today).

Arabs of the Old City who were subject to heavy mortar attack from the Jews at midday were almost tearful with joy over arrival of Legion aid.

Two Arab children were killed when a Jewish mortar shell exploded in David's Street in the Old City at noon. A dozen Arab civilians were wounded.

The bomb attack on Tel Aviv occurred at the early evening rush hour. Civilians in the street said a fighter-bomber bearing Egyptian green markings dived five times to within a thousand feet of the crowded square and unleashed a fragmentation bomb each time.

It was the third raid of the day and the deadliest in four days of successive air attacks on Tel Aviv.

The news appeared the worst from the Jewish viewpoint since the proclamation of the new state of Israel and the subsequent invasion by Arab armies.

The Jews said their Haganah fighters had forced the unconditional surrender of Arabs in the port city of Acre 12 miles north of Haifa in the climax to three days of street fighting. It was the only major victory claim of the day from Israel.

Moshe Shertok, Foreign Minister of Israel, protested to the United Nations Security Council at Lake Success that the entry into the Old City of Jerusalem by the Arab Legion was a violation of a cease-fire agreement.

Previously from 1,300 to 1,500 Jews inside the Old City were reported to have sent word to Abdullah asking that his Legion accept their surrender. Abdullah reportedly refused because his Legion was not then in Jerusalem. The Jews were said to be fearful of surrender to Arab irregulars.

In the UN at Lake Success, French Delegate Alexander Parodi, reported the French Consulate in Jerusalem was under machine-gun fire. Parodi said a battle raged all Monday night and the Consulate was isolated. Six persons have been wounded there, he said.

Parodi warned the UN Security Council that it could expect little now from its French-American-Belgian Consular Truce Commission in Jerusalem. He said the French Consulate had no communications with other sections of the city.

De Luce said in Jerusalem he believed that if a major battle develops in the near future it would be south of Tel Aviv, where the Egyptians have invaded with the largest numerical forces.

Syrian sources claimed capture of Samakh on the southern tip of the Sea of Galilee and four other nearby settlements.

In Cairo the Egyptian Government warned that it may halt foreign vessels bringing military suplies to Israel.

6 Die, 41 Injured In British Rail Crash

LEEDS, England, May 18—(AP)—A train wreck killed six passengers and injured 41 others, 22 critically, Tuesday near the Yorkshire Village of Wath-on-Dearne. Officials said "distortion of track" caused by the hot sun may have been the cause.

Six of 10 passenger coaches were wrecked. Three spilled down a 20-foot embankment. Rescuers dug into the wreckage for the bodies of four passengers. The other two died earlier in a hospital.

Georgia Solons Want No Parley Based on Wallace-Stalin Views

By ROULHAC HAMILTON, JR.
Constitution Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, May 18—Members of the Georgia Congressional Delegation agreed Tuesday that the attainment of permanent peace through negotiations with Russia would be desirable—but they unanimously vetoed an exchange of letters between Henry A. Wallace and Joe Stalin as a basis for such negotiations.

Some of the delegation saw the proposed exchange as a means of boosting the Wallace candidacy for President, another discounted the letters because of doubt of Russia's national integrity, while still another saw no occasion for surprise in any meeting of the minds between Stalin and Wallace.

Bluntest was Rep. Wood, of Canton, who doubted that "decent newspaper usage would permit publication of my full reaction."

The "peace move" appeared to be phony to Rep. Davis, of Stone Mountain.

"This thing doesn't look like a bona fide effort to have a conference between the heads of two governments in an effort to reach a peaceful solution of our differences," he said.

Sen. Russell saw in the Wallace-Stalin exchange a political move, with Wallace being willing to gamble death of American institutions in a bid for votes.

"Everybody wants peace, and Wallace has no monopoly on that desire," Russell said. "But we know that death is the most lasting peace, and that is the kind Wallace would negotiate — the death of our democracy and of our institutions."

Russell, however, wants a peace conference between the United States and Russian Governments, but he said they should be open and not secret.

Rep. Pace, of Americus, says of the Wallace proposal: "I do not look to him to guide the foreign policy of my country, but I do feel that our Government should do everything humanly possible to bring about a friendly and co-operative understanding with the Russian Government and to establish lasting peace on earth."

Rep. Preston, of Statesboro, thought that if "the Soviet empire possessed any national integrity, we might be heartened by the statements made in Stalin's response to Wallace."

But, he added, "a long and bitter experience has taught us to discredit the sincerity of utterances coming from the Kremlin. Personally, I feel that Russia is continuing to promote her international conspiracy to overthrow Democratic forms of government wherever they exist. It seems to me the whole affair is well-planned and carefully-timed to aid Wallace in his campaign."

Similarly, Rep. Wheeler, of Alma, who said he had seen only news reports and not texts of the letters, suggested that the exchange was "politically motivated."

Peters Calls Party Parley

MANCHESTER, May 18—(AP)—Georgia's Democratic Party rulers Tuesday were called into session May 31 to select National Convention delegates and adopt primary regulations.

Chairman James S. Peters issued the first call to his 120-man State Democratic Executive Committee. He said the meeting would be held in the Ansley Hotel Roof Garden in Atlanta.

Committee members will draft new rules for the Sept. 8 Georgia Democratic primary. Most of the old rules, adopted at the 1946 State Convention, were based on "white primary" legislation. They became outmoded when Acting Gov. Thompson vetoed the "white primary" bill.

The Committee also will fix a deadline for entries for Governor, U. S. Senator, two Supreme Court and Court of Appeals posts, and two seats on the Public Service Commission.

Atlantan's Plea Gets Stay for 17 Germans

WASHINGTON, May 18—(INS)—Army Secretary Royall Tuesday ordered a stay of execution of 17 Germans sentenced to death for complicity in the Malmedy massacre of unarmed captured American soldiers.

Royall ordered the executions held up after the Supreme Court had rejected a mass appeal of 74 German prisoners who were convicted by a military court of participation in the massacre and held at the one-time infamous Dachau concentration camp in Germany.

Twelve of the prisoners were scheduled to be executed Thursday.

Royall directed Gen. Lucius D. Clay, Commander in the U. S. Occupation Zone in Germany to hold up all executions until he has "fully and carefully investigated all allegations in the petition" for a high court reversal of the convictions.

An Army Department statement said that Royall's action was taken "in view of the serious allegations contained in the petition of the defendants."

The Court's decision was by a four-to-four vote, with Associate Justice Robert H. Jackson abstaining. Four of the justices, including Chief Justice Vinson, held that the Supreme Court had no jurisdiction over the Dachau convictions.

The other four voting held that the Court did have jurisdiction and that the case should be argued forthwith.

The effect of the tie vote is to uphold the decision of the Military Court which convicted the men.

It was presumed that Jackson abstained from the decision because of his service as Chief U. S. Prosecutor at the war crimes trial.

Willis M. Everett, Jr., Atlanta attorney who defended the accused German prisoners at the Army's direction, described Sec. Royall's action in staying their execution as "magnanimous." He said: "Sec. Royall is a man of unusual legal ability, and I'm sure he recognized if the charges I made were true, these men should not be executed under the pretext of such a trial." Everett added he had never questioned the guilt of the men involved, but merely contended the Army did not give them the "fair trial" it promised.

The appeal on behalf of the Germans was made by Willis M. Everett, Jr., of Atlanta, a former Army officer who defended the prisoners while in the service, at the Army's direction.

Everett contended that the Government used "sham" courts, threats, and third degree methods in forcing confessions from the prisoners.

The lawyer said that in these proceedings a prosecutor would "yell and scream" at the young defendants and attempt to force confessions from them. If these methods failed, he continued, "false witnesses" would be brought in to testify against the defendants.

The Government made no answer to the many charges in the appeal brief.

Stalin Gets U. S. 'No' On Wallace

WASHINGTON, May 18—(UP) Soviet Premier Josef Stalin's offer to "talk peace" on the basis of a program laid down by Third Party Presidential Candidate Henry A. Wallace drew an emphatic "no" from the State Department Tuesday.

The Stalin overture was rejected even more forcefully than that put out by Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov last week after the United States had made it plain how it stands on Russian obstructionism.

As Secretary of State George C. Marshall told Molotov then, the Department let Stalin know that the East-West dispute affects the vital interests of many nations and can not be settled by a private Soviet-American deal.

But its formal statement went far beyond Marshall's stiff language. It blamed Russia directly for all the past failures of world diplomacy to reach agreement on most of the issues recited by Stalin, including international atomic control.

The Department said that Stalin's expressed hope that a peaceful settlement can be worked out is "encouraging" but the course of action he proposes is not acceptable.

The statement was applauded by Democrats and Republicans in Congress, the more so because it added up to an indirect rebuff of Wallace whom President Truman fired in 1946 as Secretary of Commerce for interfering in U. S. foreign policy.

Wallace started the Stalin ball rolling on May 11 when he suggested a number of specific issues for negotiation. Stalin accepted them Monday night as the basis for a "peace conference."

Sen. Owen Brewster, Republican, Maine, told the Senate that Wallace's "exchange of notes" with Stalin raised the question whether he had violated the Logan Act, which forbids private citizens to negotiate on foreign policy with officials of other states.

The State Department said, however, that Wallace does not seem even remotely to have violated the act. It saw no difference between his open letter and the speeches many Americans make on foreign affairs.

"Premier Stalin's opinion that a peaceful settlement of outstanding problems is possible and necessary in the interests of a general peace is encouraging," it said, "but the specific issues listed in Premier Stalin's statement are not bilateral issues between this country and the Soviet Union."

Vandenberg Tops Truman In Gallup Poll

PRINCETON, N. J.—Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg holds a substantial lead over President Truman in a Presidential "trial heat" race conducted by the Institute.

To test his position in the minds of the voters the Institute pitted him against Truman and against Henry A. Wallace, third party candidate, as follows:

"If the Presidential election were being held today, and Truman were running for President on the Democratic ticket against Vandenberg on the Republican ticket and against Wallace on the Third Party ticket, how do you think you would vote?"

The results compare as follows with a similar test reported in April:

	Today	April 11
Vandenberg	45%	44%
Truman	39	39
Wallace	5	7
No opinion	11	10

The poll figures show Vandenberg with a long lead in the Middle Western section of the country.

The sectional results follow:

McGill Scores on Air, in Post

Ralph McGill, Editor of The Constitution, today had expressed his views to a great American audience through two mediums. Tuesday night he spoke on America's Town Meeting of the Air, and today his article, "Will the South Ditch Truman?" appears as the lead article in the current issue of Saturday Evening Post.

On the Town Meeting program, broadcast from Constitution Hall in Washington over ABC and WCON, McGill opposed outlawing of the Communist Party, calling the House bill "unwise and unsound." He said the bill "seems to get at Communism through a side door."

Introducing himself as "a Southern Democrat who has not and will not bolt the Party," McGill said existing laws governing treason and foreign allegiance should be strengthened so that "no citizen may receive or carry out orders from a foreign state, or from citizens in foreign states; that no citizen may hold membership in any organization whose loyalty is pledged to another state; and that no citizen may hold membership in any organization which has for its purpose or objective depriving any class of citizens of their Constitutional rights."

Other speakers on the program included Sen. Taft, of Ohio; Thurman Arnold, former Assistant Attorney General; Rep. Nixon, of California, co-author of an anti-Communist bill under debate in the House, and Richard Ball, 17-year-old high school orator from Hawarden, Iowa.

Writing in the Saturday Evening Post, McGill said he believed Southern politicians would use "any means" to defeat renomination of President Truman, but that many would "reluctantly" support him if he were renominated.

The noted editor said at least four States would withhold their electoral votes from Mr. Truman regardless of what happened at the Democratic convention. Mississippi, South Carolina, Alabama and Virginia, McGill says in the article, "have gone too far to retreat from their position, unless they find the Republican platform even more distasteful, as they may."

He said Southern Democrats would try to block Truman's nomination in the Convention because of his espousal of civil rights legislation.

"If all plans fail and Harry Truman is nominated, much of the Southern leadership is prepared . . . to make the nomination as worthless as Confederate bonds."

The appearance of McGill's article in the Post marks the first time the magazine ever carried articles in one issue by more than one staffer of the same newspaper. Constitution Columnist Harold Martin, a frequent contributor to the magazine, wrote a story entitled, "The Minstrel Man of the Appalachians," in the Post this week.

Weather Report? Same Thing Today

Another day—another report—but the same weather. Yes, Atlantans will awaken to another day of sunshine as the Weatherman reports "fair and warm." But it will be cooler early in the day.

The temperature is expected to reach 82 with a low of 50. Tuesday's temperature ranged between 79 and 54.

Tucker GOPs Demand Law Ban Vote Buying

By M. L. ST. JOHN

State laws to end vote buying in Democratic primaries—and all other primaries—in Georgia were asked by the Roscoe Tucker State Republican Convention, meeting here Tuesday.

The group also sent an uninstructed delegation to the Republican National Convention to compete for seats with the Roy Foster State Republican group, which recently voted to send an uninstructed delegation. Tucker's group was seated in the 1944 convention.

Tucker, of Dawsonville, was re-elected as State Chairman.

As Tucker leaders blasted Foster's group in speeches, Roscoe Pickett, Jr., Foster's executive director, shouted from the floor that a charge against him was untrue.

Regardless of which State faction is seated at the Republican National Convention, James Crummey, of Rochelle, will be a voting delegate. He was elected to represent the Third District at the recent Roy Foster convention here. Tuesday, he was elected to represent the Third District at the Roscoe Tucker convention here. Crummey is Chairman of the Third District organization.

Pickett and a few other Foster leaders were present as observers.

The Convention voted to ask the 1949 Georgia Legislature to provide that State election machinery be used to conduct Preferential Presidential Primaries for any party.

In other resolutions, the Convention—in which Negroes outnumbered white delegates—said that every citizen should not only be permitted to vote but should be encouraged to do so; that equal educational opportunities should be offered to all Georgians, and that Republican candidates should offer for public office (when the party becomes strong enough) in order to develop a two-party system in this State.

In addition to Tucker, the following State officers were chosen: C. P. Gray, of Perry, and J. W. Dobbs, Atlanta Negro, Vice-Chairmen; Barnaby Hill, of Atlanta, Secretary; W. J. Shaw, Atlanta Negro, Assistant Secretary; Frank Evans, of Milledgeville, General Counsel, and Harry Sommers, of Atlanta, Treasurer.

State-at-large delegates to the National Convention are: National Committeeman Wilson Williams, of Columbus; Harry Sommers and J. W. Dobbs, both of Atlanta, and C. M. Jordan, of Glenwood; alternates: Maurice Howowitz, of Savannah; Joseph Crawford, of Atlanta; C. P. Gray, of Perry, and Dr. T. H. Brewer, of Columbus.

District delegates to the National Convention: First District—L. B. Toomer, Savannah, delegate, and Mrs. Georgia Williams, of Savannah, alternate; Second District—C. W. Pidcock, of Moultrie, and J. H. Watson, of Albany, alternate; Third District—James Crummey, of Rochelle, and O. A. Slaton, of Columbus; Fourth District—A. C. Touchstone, of Griffin, and G. L. Connally, of Griffin, alternate.

Fifth District—Elbert Tuttle and W. J. Shaw, both of Atlanta, delegates, and C. J. Hilkey and B. F. Cofer, both of Atlanta, alternates. Sixth District—Frank Evans, of Milledgeville, and Herbert Elock, of Macon, alternate. Seventh District—W. B. Austin, of Paulding County, and A. T. Atwater, of Rome, alternate. Eighth District—T. C. Williams, of Waycross, and J. F. Mann, of Brunswick, alternate. Ninth District—Cecil Hartness, of Blue Ridge, and Sen. T. A. Chastain, of Talking Rock, delegates, and W. Y. Vanhook, of Blue Ridge, and J. C. Lee, of Hiwassee, alternates. Tenth District—W. C. Erwin, of Augusta, and C. S. Wigfall, of Augusta, alternate.

Dean C. J. Hilkey, of Emory University Law School served as permanent chairman of the convention, after Dr. W. Y. Gilliam, of Fannin County, served as temporary chairman.

Drug Firm's Chiefs Visit Branch Here

"We believe the South is in the midst of a large-scale and a long-continued economic development and expansion," said Joseph P. Hardie, Vice President in Charge of Sales for the Bristol-Myers Company of New York City, manufacturers of drug accessories and pharmaceuticals, as he arrived here Tuesday by special plane from New Orleans.

Hardie is just finishing an inspection trip which took him to the Pacific Coast. He and his party stopped over in Atlanta to visit the branch which his Company opened here last year.

"We have no special plans for this area at this time," he explained. "But the fact that we only recently opened a branch office here indicates our faith in this region."

Hardie said his trip has a threefold purpose: (1) to study general business conditions; (2) to visit the Company's branches and talk with the branch managers; and (3) to keep posted on the progress in types of building which may in future be suited to Bristol-Myers expansion.

Those with Hardie on this trip are: Palmer J. Lathrop, Vice President in Charge of Production; Stanley Bloyer, of the Engineering Division, and William R. Martin, Assistant to Lee Bristol, Executive Vice President of Bristol-Myers.

After conferences today with H. C. Wheeler, Manager of the Bristol-Myers Atlanta branch, the party will leave Thursday for New York via Norfolk.

TO GET DIPLOMAS

Ruling Favors Wed Students

Roy W. Davis, Assistant Superintendent of Schools, scotched a rumor Tuesday that diplomas would be withheld from married high school students who have completed all necessary requirements.

He pointed out the Atlanta Board of Education has had a ruling for many years, prohibiting married students from attending regular city high schools. But if a student has completed his high school work before knowledge of his marriage reaches school officials, he will receive his diploma, Davis said.

Davis said the Board did not wish to encourage marriage of high school students—and hence the ruling against married students.

Truman Acts To Avert 42-State Phone Strike

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Truman acted Tuesday to stave off one of two major strikes threatening the nation.

Asserting a wage dispute between the American Telephone & Telegraph Company and certain long-line workers threatens the nation's health and safety, Mr. Truman appointed an emergency board to investigate. The dispute involves some 25,000 long distance operators in 42 States.

The second major strike threat came from the CIO United Automobile Workers. The union notified the Michigan State Labor Mediation Board that a strike "is pending" for 225,000 General Motors employees. The Union already has some 75,000 Chrysler workers out in a wage dispute.

In Washington, Judge T. Alan Goldsborough dismissed a Federal civil contempt conviction against John L. Lewis as new contract negotiations got under way between the United Mine Workers and the soft coal industry.

However, Lewis threatened to end the contract talks if the operators insist on including Joseph E. Moody, President of the Southern Coal Producers Association. The showdown may come Wednesday.

Lewis said that Moody isn't eligible to participate as his group did not sign the present contract which expires June 30.

The nationwide strike of 100,000 packinghouse workers continued as Federal mediators strove desperately to effect a settlement. They spent the day in talks with Armour & Company, Cudahy Packing Company and Wilson & Company representatives. Assisting the mediators was Gov. Luther Youngdahl of Minnesota.

Tuesday night the mediators met with the Union separately and later with the Union and some Packer representatives. There were reports that the CIO Union was ready to accept the nine-cent hourly wage hike previously accepted by a rival AFL Union, but was balking at possible discharge of strikers.

GM Strike Looms;
Lewis Conviction Dismissed;
Meat Talks Progress;
Rail Strike Ban Extended;
Atomic Dispute Unsettled.

In the Lewis case, Judge Goldsborough dissolved the contempt conviction against the union leader at the Government's request. He declined, however, to dissolve his 80-day antistrike injunction against Lewis and the United Mine Workers. The judge said he would consider that motion for a while.

Other labor developments include:

Judge Goldsborough Tuesday night extended until May 29 the restraining order which blocked a threatened railroad strike last week.

He also postponed until May 28 a hearing which had been scheduled for Wednesday on the Government's request for an injunction to replace the order.

That order was to expire Wednesday night.

The extension was made at request of the Justice Department because officials of three big Unions involved—the Locomotive Eengineers, Firemen and Switchmen—renewed negotiations Tuesday with representatives of the railroads in another effort to settle their long dispute over working rules and wages.

Today's rail talks recessed with no announcement of progress.

A labor dispute at the Oak Ridge, Tenn., atomic energy plant "remains unaltered and the dispute unsettled," a presidential emergency board reported.

In its second report to President Truman under tho Taft-Hartley Act, the board reported the positions of the Carbide and Carbon Chemical's Corporation and the Atomic Trades and Labor Council (AFL) were unchanged.

A court injunction against the strike expires June 7. The union is demanding a 15 cents hourly wage increase and other concessions.

Blast, Fire Kill Ten at N. J. Plant

KEARNY, N. J., May 18—(AP)—A shattering tank explosion and fire shortly before midnight Monday night killed at least 10 persons at the sprawling Koppers Company tar and chemical division plant.

Nine bodies were taken from the ruins of the building along the Hackensack River and a tenth victim died in a hospital. Firemen searched the wreckage for additional victims of the blast that set off a fire in an adjoining building of the plant.

The Company's office in Pittsburgh said the explosion occurred when a strong wind blew part of the contents of a 50,00-gallon tank of a distillate against a hot pipe. The distillate, used in making other chemicals, "flashed," and then set the tank afire. A service building, laboratory and machine shop were burned.

First reports said the blast was caused by blazing naphthalene.

Cardiff Giant Finds Resting Place

AFTER 79 YEARS—Workmen stand in mock reverence Tuesday at the side of the famed Cardiff Giant, sensational American hoax of 1869, in an open grave at the Farmers' Museum, Cooperstown, N. Y. The stone giant, measuring 10 feet 4½ inches and weighing 2,990 pounds, was moved from Des Moines, Iowa, to be added to the New York collection. It was "uncovered" 79 years ago on a farm near Cardiff, in Central New York, after having been sculptured and "planted" as a stunt. Crowds swept in to view the "giant in the earth," paying 50 cents a look. Although many scientists of the day cried "humbug," P. T. Barnum offered $150,000 for the "relic." When his bid was turned down, Barnum made his own replica.

'We Got Answers,' A-Bomb Tester Says

HONOLULU, May 18—(AP)—The recent atomic tests at Eniwetok proved "how bombs now under development by the United States would work" and their efficiency.

Lifting the curtain of secrecy ever so slightly, Lt. Gen. John E. Hull, Commander of the Joint Task Force, said Tuesday, "We got our answers. We liked the answers."

It was implied strongly the new weapons are a vast improvement over the Hiroshima bomb and those tested at Bikini.

Hull and his staff returned by plane from the remote, closely guarded atoll where three improved atomic weapons were tested.

Hull told a news conference none of the tests were under water. And Maj. Gen. William E. Kepner, Air Force Deputy with the Task Force, added nothing was dropped from the air. These were the two types of tests conducted at Bikini in 1946.

Asked whether a guided missile was used, Gen. Hull said that was a technical question which he could not answer under security restrictions.

Dr. Karol F. Froman, scientific director of the Eniwetok Proving Grounds, said the operations—dates of which were not disclosed—could be described this way:

"The program just completed at the Eniwetok Proving Grounds involved a series of nuclear explosions carried out under conditions as close to laboratory control, as we could make them, and with very extensive instrumentation."

Five key leaders of the new tests—known as "Operation Sandstone"—took part in the press conference soon after arriving by plane from Eniwetok.

Ex-Georgian Set As Postmaster In Washington

WASHINGTON, May 18—(AP)—Roy M. North, formerly of Georgia, was nominated Tuesday by President Truman to be Postmaster at Washington, D. C.

North, Deputy Third Assistant Postmaster General, was named to succeed V. C. Burke, recently named First Assistant Postmaster General.

North was born near Warm Springs, Ga., and has been a career employee of the Post Office Department. He entered the postal service in 1909 as mail clerk, and has served as a postal inspector in the St. Louis and Chicago Divisions.

He was appointed Deputy Third Assistant Postmaster General in 1933.

DR. BEBE PATTEN

STYLE, CHARM

Dr. Patten Slated Here

Eloquent and vivacious Dr. Bebe H. Patten, whose evangelistic career has become big news on the Pacific Coast, will arrive in Atlanta Friday. She will conduct a service at the Tower Theatre next Monday night.

Dr. Patten, who believes in putting punch into religion with her own peculiar style and charm, has been battling the devil from the pulpit for over 20 years.

Accompanied by a group of honor students from the Patten College and Seminary in Oakland, Cal., Dr. Patten is starting her nationwide tour in Atlanta.

Gowned by Adrian of Hollywood, this go-getter in the cause of religion is the founder of the Academy of Christian Education, said to be one of the largest organizations of its kind in the world.

Owner of the million dollar City Club in Oakland, Cal., with its auditorium seating 2,000 and filled nightly, Dr. Patten's 400 students complete their high school and college education in a Christian educational center complete with roof garden, swimming pool, radio station, newspaper and a charm school.

Dedication Of Trade School Slated May 28

Acceptance of a $226,000 gymnasium from the Federal Works Agency will feature formal dedication ceremonies of the South Georgia Vocational Trade School at Americus May 28, Jed B. Yingling, Director, revealed here Tuesday.

The huge gymnasium contains a 54x48-foot basketball court, seats for 750 spectators and has showers, lockers and offices, Yingling said. The building has been paid for out of Federal funds and has cost the State of Georgia nothing, he added.

Dr. Mark Smith, Superintendent of Bibb County Schools, will be the principal speaker. State School Supt. M. D. Collins will act as master of ceremonies.

The Trade School started classes Feb. 9, and now has an enrollment of 125. Plans are to have eventually a student body of 1,000 enrolled in 30 different courses. The $500,000 school was purchased from the War Assets Administration by the State of Georgia for $1.

Walters Chapel Dedication Set For Tonight

Dedication services for the Frances Winship Walters Chapel at St. Mark Methodist Church will be conducted at 8 p. m. today. Bishop Arthur J. Moore, Dr. Lester Rumble, District Superintendent, and Dr. Joseph Owen, Pastor, will be in charge of the services.

The services tonight officially will mark the completion of the chapel, which was a gift to the church from Mrs. George C. Walters.

Completely air-conditioned, the chapel will be used for small weddings and meditation.

The public is invited to attend the dedication ceremonies.

Stassen Headquarters To Open Here Today

By JOHN COURIC,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

Harold E. Stassen's "Operation South" headquarters will open at 240 Peachtree Street today with the grandson of a Confederate Army major directing campaign strategy.

The Southern campaign manager for the Republican presidential aspirant is Alex Akerman, Jr., a Georgia native and grandson of Maj. Amos T. Akerman, of Cartersville, who became Attorney General in the cabinet of President U. S. Grant.

Akerman, who practices law in Orlando, Fla., is supervising the drive which he hopes will give Stassen the Southern delegates to the Republican National Convention and then break the solid South from traditional Democratic Party control.

Some 200 Republican leaders from 12 States are expected here today for formal opening of what Akerman calls the first concerted Republican campaign attempt in the South.

"The Southern headquarters is being opened," he said, "because of the rapidly growing delegate strength for Stassen in the South, and as a foundation for activities to develop a strong two-party system in the South.

"It is definitely planned to win a number of courthouses, State Legislative Representatives and Congressmen in the South next November, as part of a vigorous two-party national campaign."

Officials said the public is cordially invited to attend the opening.

Stassen is expected to return to the South to aid in the fight, Akerman said. The former Minnesota Governor already has visited most of the Southern States in his Presidential campaign.

Akerman is the only Republican in the Florida House of Representatives. And he was the No. 1 Republican delegate in the recent Florida primary.

He was born in Macon, Ga., where his father was Assistant United States District Attorney and later District Attorney for the Southern District of Georgia.

Before moving to Macon, his father practiced law in Dublin, Ga.

Akerman's father now is retired after having served as United States District Judge for the Southern District of Florida.

Akerman is a veteran of World War II and regional director of the Young Republican National Federation. He attended Mercer University in Macon.

Stassen Leads In Canvass at Piedmont College

DEMOREST, May 18—Harold Stassen led, President Truman was a close second and Henry Wallace trailed in a straw vote taken at Piedmont College after the programs of the Democratic, Republican and Third Parties were presented by Robert Derrick, Clayton; Don Barnett, Jefferson, and Hubert Davis, Toccoa. Prof. Lillian McKee, social science instructor, sponsored the program.

You knew.

the moment you saw it—this was your car. New, all-new, every inch and pound of it. A big, brawny frame under a sweeping, curved-arch silhouette. Longer, wider, lower—with a road-hugging look that beckoned you to get in and go! When you saw it, you said "This is it! This ALL-NEW 1949 Mercury is for me!"

You heard

the proud, soft-spoken, 8-cylinder, V-type engine murmuring gently. You'd heard that sound before. Where? In cars far beyond your budget's reach. But here it was in an engine designed and built exclusively for Mercury . . . and in a choice of superb body styles, including Mercury's all-new Six-passenger Coupe and Six-passenger Convertible.

You held the wheel easily, because Mercury didn't "wind-wander," didn't "over-steer." Its sure-footed balance and down-to-earth roadability let you hold all roads securely. Its new, bigger, super-balloon tires let you skim over the bumps without a tremor.

You touched

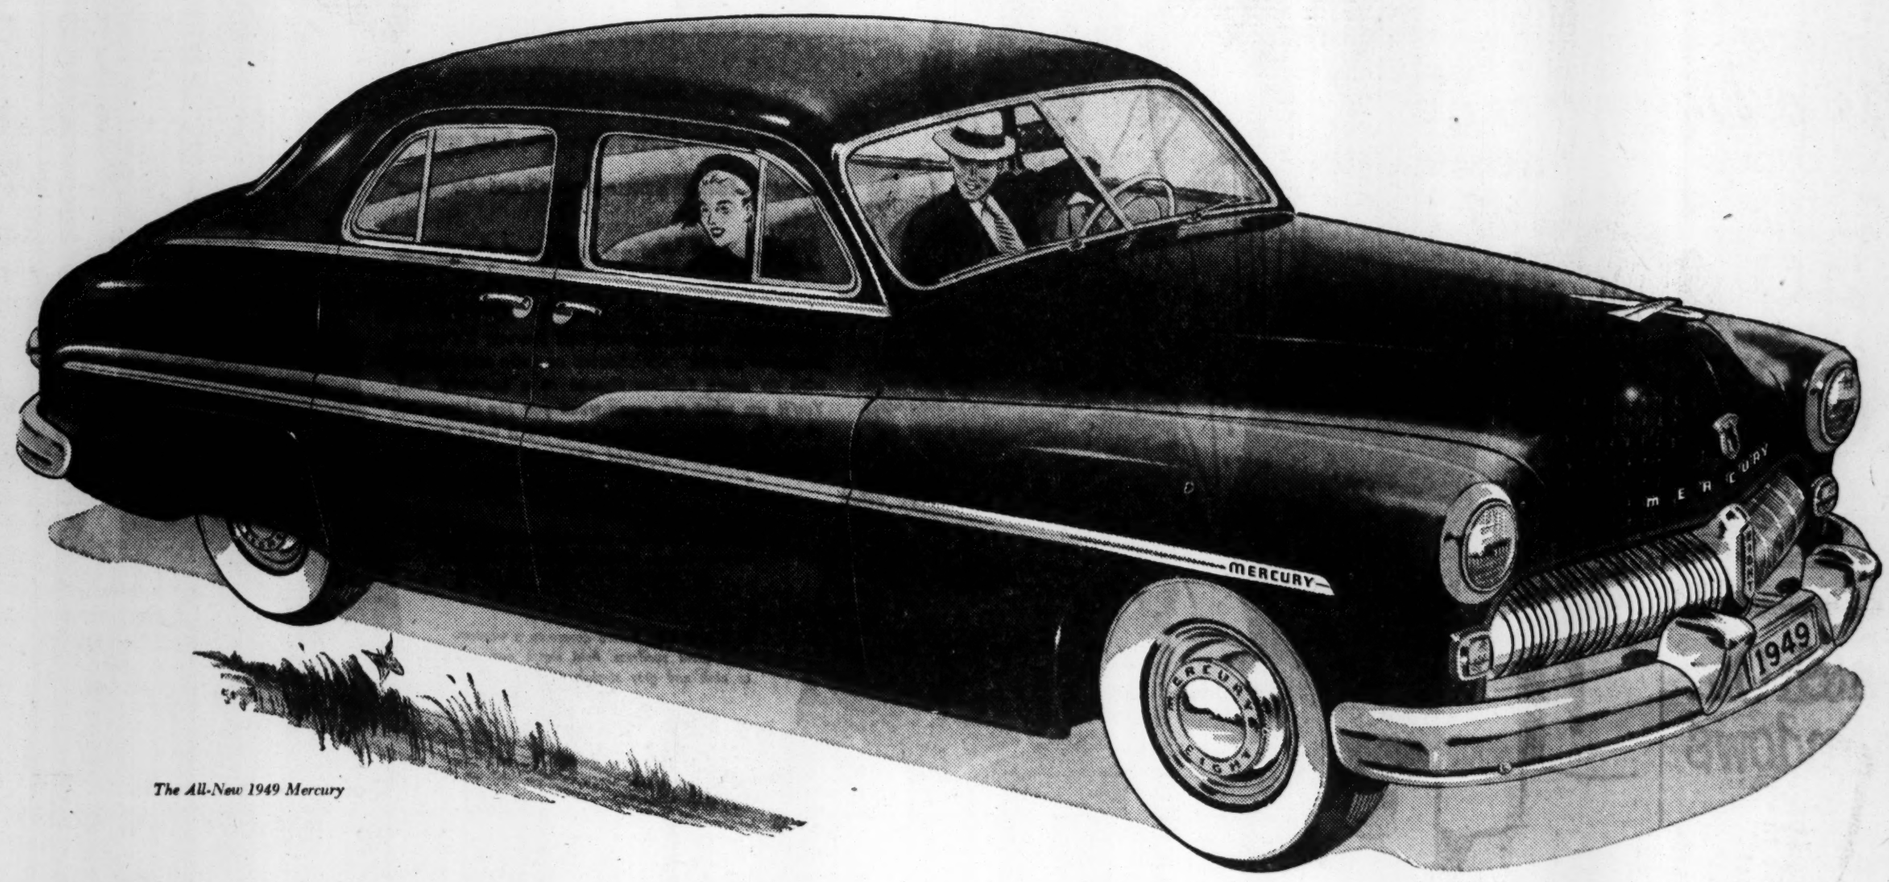

the brake pedal—just a slight touch—and Mercury's new super-brakes brought you gliding to a swift, sure stop. It was then you knew for sure that Mercury had made an all-new car—from top to tires—for you! Your car had finally come along. It was Mercury!

You sat

in a wide, "comfort-zone" seat that shaped itself to you—above all-new road-smoothing spring suspension. You filled the car with a controlled flow of fresh, filtered air from the leakproof "Fingertip Weather Control." This was the comfort you wanted in your car. This was Mercury.

BIRD HONORED — Thomas H. Bird, Auditor in the City Waterworks, Tuesday was receiving the congratulations of friends on having been elected President of the Atlanta Lawn Tennis Association.

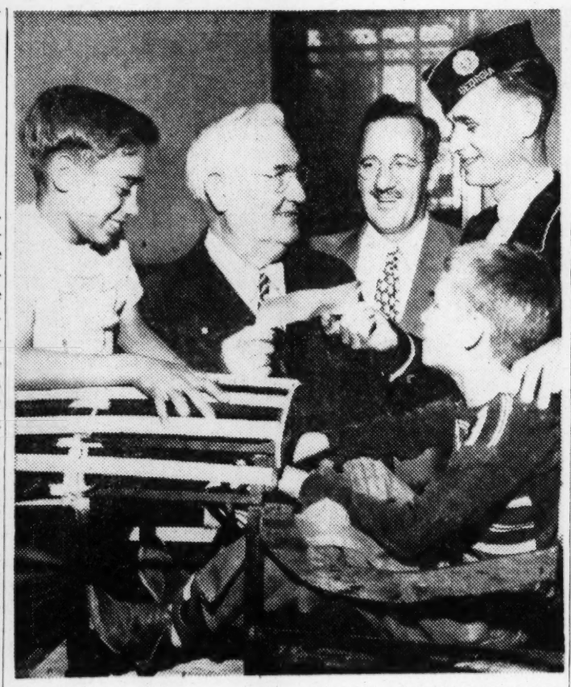

POLICE APPLICANTS — City Personnel Director Carl T. Sutherland has announced an extension for receiving applicants for city policemen. The lists will close at 12:30 p. m. Saturday. Only 17 white applicants out of 53 passed written examinations. The department needs a minimum of 20. Seven Negroes passed the same tests out of 26 applicants.

BREWER NAMED — Ernest Brewer, Mayor Hartsfield's Executive Secretary, has been named Secretary-Treasurer of the Presbyterian Officers' Association of Atlanta. Other officers include George Allen Maddox, President; Phil B. Narmore, Executive Vice President, and Weyman Tucker, Byron Greene, Charles R. Gambill and H. B. Andrews, Regional Vice Presidents.

CHILDREN HELP — Atlanta school children will carry appeals to their parents in the drive to raise funds to feed hungry children of Europe and Asia. Miss Ira Jarrell, City School Superintendent, said Tuesday, no collection would be taken in the schools in the campaign known as "the Crusade of Children," but parents would be asked to make their contributions directly to the State organization.

OPEN-AIR ARENA SUGGESTED

Gold Star Mothers Plan Memorial Chapel

A chapel, possibly like the Hollywood Bowl, has been decided upon as a memorial for Georgia's Gold Star Mothers.

The decision was made at a meeting of committees of the Gold Star Mothers and the State Gold Star Mothers' Memorial Association Tuesday in the State Capitol.

Suggestions as to the form of the chapel included several for an open-air ampitheater suitable for memorial services, meetings of veterans and other organizations and symphony orchestra concerts.

Jackson P. Dick, of Atlanta, suggested consideration of a State athletic stadium in which football and other contests could be held.

"If the boys, themselves could be heard, they would want a living memorial, serviceable to all," State Veterans Service Director C. Arthur Cheatham remarked.

Since 1776, a total of 35,000 men have given their lives in various wars. Of these, 7,300 died in World War II.

The Committees, called together by Charles Barnhardt, of Atlanta, Chairman of the Association, will meet again in June. Discussion of financing brought out the idea that $1 from each former serviceman would provide more than $440,000 for the Gold Star Mothers Memorial.

Rev. Fountain Gets Post Here

The Rev. W. A. Fountain, African Methodist Episcopal Church Bishop, has been assigned to the Atlanta Twelfth District by the Twenty-third Quadrennial General Conference which met in Kansas City.

W. D. Johnson, of Plains, was named Manager of the AME Book Concern. Eleven holdover bishops were given new districts during the conference and six new bishops were assigned. Nine general officers were elected.

2 PLAYS, VOCAL RECITAL

Musical Paces Triple Bill At Woman's Auditorium

By PAUL JONES,
Amusement Editor.

A three-ring show which rang the bell for several hundred Atlantans who sought an evening of entertainment was presented at the Atlanta Woman's Club Auditorium Tuesday night by the Atlanta Theater Guild and Associated Artists.

The program was composed of two one-act plays, "Off Tobacco Road," a tongue-in-cheek satire about a family of moonshiners; the Gilbert and Sullivan comic opera, "Trial By Jury," and a brief vocal concert by Dosh William Durden, Atlanta tenor.

The musical was the high spot of the evening. The stage settings were unpretentious, but the singing of the stars, the chorus and accompaniment by Bervely Stevenson was excellent. Edgar Bodiford, the male lead, displayed unusual dramatic adeptness as well as a very promising tenor voice. Mary Louise Allen, the heroine, was charmingly lyrical and was at ease in the acting department. Phil Latta, Tom O'Kelley and David Knowles carried the supporting roles with vocal excellence.

There was much fun to be had in witnessing "Off Tobacco Road." Dr. Frank Belyeu impersonated the moonshiner and he did a grand job of it. Marguerite Wellborn played the role of "Ma."

Durden's vocal recital was somewhat disappointing. I think this was because of his poor judgment in selecting his numbers. Durden began with a medley of spirituals, but his tenor voice did not possess the power to interpret correctly. He wisely encored with "Because," and Adams' "The Holy City."

Police Blotter

UNWANTED GIFT—Aleck Alexander, of 865 Mentell Dr., N. E., doesn't want people to think him unappreciative, but he just didn't want the gift he received early Tuesday—14 one-half gallon fruit jars filled with illicit whiskey. After finding the liquor in his garage, Alexander called police who took charge of it.

MAN HURT IN CRASH—Homer V. Ray, 40, of Route 2, Marietta, was treated at Grady Hospital Tuesday for head and hip injuries he received when the car in which he was riding was involved in a three-way collision at Juniper and Fifth Streets. Ray was the only person hurt in the crash, police said.

BURGLARS ACTIVE—Burglars early Tuesday broke into the Fulton Pharmacy, 334 Washington St., S. W., and took more than $200 worth of cigarettes, fountain pens and pencils . . . John Paris, of 437 Cooper St., S. W., reported to police a Negro man, surprised in a bedroom of Paris' home, jumped through a window and escaped before police arrived.

Last Rites Thursday For W. R. Means

W. R. Means, 81, carpenter, died Tuesday at his residence, 128 Lloyd Rd., Decatur.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p. m. Thursday in Nails Creek Baptist Church, with the Rev. Clines officiating. Burial will be in the churchyard.

A native of Franklin County, Mr. Means had lived in Decatur since 1942. He belonged to Nails Creek Baptist Church.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. J. E. Ayers, of Decatur; two sons, W. M. Means, of Wildwood, Fla., and G. N. Means, of Atlanta; two half-brothers, J. T. Carlan, of Jacksonville, Fla., and T. J. Carlan, of Alpharetta.

Miss Rosa Klaitz Dies at Residence

Miss Rosa Klaitz, of 200 Degresse Ave., N. E., died Tuesday at the residence.

Funeral services will be conducted at 10:30 a. m. Thursday in the chapel of Awtry & Lowndes, with the Rev. C. K. Derrick officiating. Burial will be in West View Cemetery.

She is survived by a sister, Mrs. John Klaitz, of Atlanta; three nieces, Mrs. O. W. Rollins and Mrs. W. H. Petree, both of Atlanta, and Mrs. Stuart Christie, of New Orleans, La, and a nephew, John Klaitz, Jr., of Atlanta.

NOW SHE SHOPS "CASH AND CARRY"
Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Isaac Ackerman Dies in Hospital

Isaac Ackerman, 55, of 1116 Piedmont Ave., N. E., died Tuesday in a private hospital after a brief illness.

Funeral services will be conducted at 1 p. m. today in the chapel of Greenberg & Flinn, with Rabbi Hyman R. Friedman and Rabbi Tobias Geffen officiating. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mr. Ackerman was associated with Ackerman Furniture Company. Born in Russia, he had lived in Atlanta 10 years.

He belonged to Shearith Israel Synogogue and the Progressive Club. He was a member of Atlanta Post No. 112, JWV, Fulton Lodge No. 216, F&AM, and the COA Club.

Surviving are his wife; a daughter, Mrs. Bernard Berger, of Atlanta; a sister, Mrs. Sol Waltman, of New York; a brother, Dave Ackerman, of New York; and three grandchildren.

Funeral Rites Today For Mrs. Pittman

Mrs. Susan Elizabeth Pittman, 81, of 522 W. Virginia Ave., College Park, died Tuesday in a private hospital after a lengthy illness. She was the widow of W. J. Pittman.

Funeral services will be conducted at 11 a. m. today in the chapel of A. C. Hemperley & Son, with the Rev. C. E. Peiphoff officiating. Burial will be in Mt. Olive Cemetery.

Mrs. Pittman, known as "Granny" Pittman, had lived in College Park 40 years. She belonged to the College Park Presbyterian Church.

Survivors are three daughters, Mrs. J. H. McDonald and Mrs. Lillian Smith, both of Miami, Fla., and Mrs. R. A. Little, of College Park; 12 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

Mrs. J. S. Smith Dies in Hospital

Mrs. J. S. Smith, Sr., 62, of 1541 North Ave., N. W., died Tuesday in a private hospital after a brief illness.

Funeral services will be conducted at 11 a. m. Thursday at Bethany Methodist Church, with the Rev. W. R. Sisson and the Rev. J. C. Daniels officiating. Burial will be in Hollywood Cemetery.

Mrs. Smith, a life-long resident of Atlanta, was a member of Fortified Hills Baptist Church.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. T. A. Wood and Mrs. J. B. Craddock, both of Atlanta; a son, J. S. Smith, Jr., of Atlanta; a sister, Mrs. H. Y. Crowder, of Atlanta, and two brothers, G. W. and G. M. Haynie, both of Atlanta.

INDICTED—James Conrad Christensen, of Dunwoody, Tuesday was named in two indictments alleging robbery and assault with intent to murder, both growing out of an attack on W. D. Scarboro, of 641 Kennesaw Ave., N. E., on May 1. According to police reports, Scarboro alleges Christensen attacked him in the rear of a downtown building, pushed him into a ditch 14 feet deep, then threw metal rods down on him. A third indictment alleged Christensen the same night assaulted E. M. Ashmore, of 762 Delmar St., Southeast.

NEGROES ACQUITTED—Three Negroes, Henry Cox, Eddie C. Cox and Joseph Murray Tuesday were acquitted by a jury in Judge E. E. Andrews' court in the stab slaying of Henry Shepherd March 13. Shepherd was stabbed fatally at the corner of Martin and Clark Streets, Southeast. They were represented by George Manley and J. R. Parham.

FILTER SCHOOL—Twenty swimming pool operators from various parts of the State and a few from Alabama are attending a course at Adams Park in the operation of filter equipment. The course is being conducted by Sanitary Engineer M. E. Doyle.

WITHDRAWS PETITION—Atty. Reuben Garland has withdrawn his petition on behalf of J. S. Dumas, operator of Hamburger Heaven, seeking to enjoin the City from carrying out an order of City Council revoking the wine and beer license of Hamburger Heaven. Judge Ralph Pharr had scheduled a hearing on the petition for June 4. Glen S. Phillips, State Revenue Commissioner, Tuesday announced revocation of the State permit to Dumas to sell beer. Phillips said the action is automatic when the City revokes sales permits. City Council Monday voted to revoke the license, and Mayor Hartsfield signed the revocation order.

An 'Oscar' for Henry and Joe

There ought to be an Oscar of some sort for the citizen most proficient at muddying waters. And if there were we are certain the award would go to Henry Wallace unchallenged. But a second trophy, of only slightly smaller size, would have to be gotten up for Josef Stalin. The two complement each other and wherever one goes he finds them holding hands in a manner suggesting the deepest affection.

Indeed, such is their admiration for each other that Wallace just couldn't refrain from writing Stalin a lengthy epistle, suggesting, in his own fuzzy way, that their respective countries get together and iron out all their differences. And of course Stalin was delighted to hear from his American soul-mate and wasted no time in setting forth his agreement. He went further. He made his agreement public over the Soviet radio and through the controlled press for all the world to bear witness to Russia's peaceful intentions.

The unique fact that the head of a state was answering officially a communication from a private citizen—and a generally discredited citizen at that—of another state did not seem to trouble Stalin. Such little rules of courtesy and diplomacy never bother the Kremlin's chief, anyway. And besides, here was a wonderful chance—made to order, it appeared—to stir up dissatisfaction among American voters with their Government's policy of firmness toward the Soviet, a policy that has become increasingly hampering to Russia's aggressive aims.

Old Joe probably smiled benignly and his ardor for Henry increased at least 10 degrees when he read that letter. For didn't it contain just what he, Stalin, had always said? Didn't Wallace, too, want ERP to be abandoned in favor of a giant UNRRA? And weren't all the other proposals so general and fuzzy and in such complete disregard for recent history that their acceptance would, in the eyes of the world, give Russia credit for peaceful intentions but plenty of leeway for sabotaging any real, binding peace attempt? Old Joe's heart expanded. Surely he ought to do something for poor Henry, over there struggling like that to pick up a few votes. Yes, he could help Henry and Joe, too—the only way Joe ever helped anybody. Since that stubborn Truman had refused to be taken in by Molotov, he'd just embarrass the poor devil to death by accepting, officially, Henry's recommendations. That would make those ignorant Americans think Henry was a great man—the only one who could attain peace. They'd get dissatisfied with Hard-Hearted Harry, pushing those poor Russians around like that, and they'd vote for Henry, that's what they'd do. And that would be good for Henry and Joe, too.

And that's what Joe did.

Any Change an Improvement?

The Jackson Herald has a rare insight into the State's highway problems, its publisher, John Holder, having been Chairman of the State Highway Department for a number of years.

Recognizing the injustice done Fulton County under the present system, whereby road contracts are let only in politically doubtful areas, the Herald last week reprinted our editorial pointing out that, while Fulton pays more than a third of the State's taxes, some of its roads are impassable.

"This situation can be partly corrected by a new law," adds The Herald. "A section should be incorporated in the proposed State Highway law which provides that three-fourths of all highway funds, State and Federal, should be apportioned to the counties on a basis similar to the plan of the United States Government in apportioning Federal road funds to the different States. The other one-fourth should be used by the State Highway Board in building expensive bridges, connecting highways and widening or double tracking some thoroughfares. By this plan each County would be certain to have some roads constructed each year. In spending State Highway funds in a County the County Commissioners should always be consulted. Distribution of funds to the counties would also take a great deal of politics out of the State Highway Department."

We do not know whether such an allocation of highway funds would be feasible. But certainly something must be done to alleviate the discrimination which exists under the present politically directed system.

The truth of the matter is that the fed-up people of Georgia are about ready to accept any change in the Highway Department setup, having become convinced that conditions have now reached such a sorry state that any change must be for the better.

Sh-h-h-h! Political Spies at Work

Let's join the political spies today. Wear your hat and bring your newspaper with you, because we are going incognito into the lobby of a couple of Atlanta hotels. See that gent lounging over there? The one with one eye sticking out from behind the paper? Yeah. Let's sidle up to him and find out what's cooking politically in the State of Georgia. Oh, he knows, all right. He sits there eight hours a day and watches the comings and goings in the hotel lobby. No, I don't know whether he's paid or not; maybe he's retired and just does it for the love of his State.

Hello, fellow. What's the latest from the campaign front?

The heck you say. No, I didn't know Ed Rivers and M. E. Thompson had split. And Ed is going to run for Governor, himself? Well, well! (You keep your shirt on, this rumor is at least a year old and this spy must think we're real suckers to be peddling it to us. Let's catch that man walking out yonder. Talk real low and confidential-like and he'll slip us the hot tips.)

Hello, is Thompson still in the race? Well, we just asked, because another guy said he was out.

The advisers are putting the skids under Herman, you say? Who'll be their candidate? Jim Gillis? He's a new one. Miss Mitt? Oh, no, she'd back her boy. Charlie Redwine?

Well, let's you and I add up the dope from the in-the-know boys who settle the future of Georgia in whispered conversations in hotel lobbies. Does it come out Thompson or Talmadge? No, those two have run for a year in vain. Georgia will have another battle between Rivers and Redwine. (Which just shows how far-fetched some of the rumors manufactured by paid political workers can go.)

The question being asked most frequently today is: When will the real battle between Talmadge and Thompson begin? Thompson is an announced candidate, and has a campaign headquarters in operation, but he hasn't yet named his campaign manager or said when and where he will tee off. Talmadge hasn't officially announced his candidacy, although his campaign office has been functioning since he left the Governor's office which he claimed a year ago. Rumors say Thompson will open at Millen and that Talmadge is undecided between Douglas, Lyons and his own front porch near Lovejoy.

Regardless of when and where Talmadge schedules his "opening" address, however, the real opening of the battle will take place in Macon on July 2. The Talmadge-controlled State Democratic Convention will meet to fix rules, and Talmadge will be the principal speaker. He will take advantage of this situation to shoot the works. Thompson can be expected to open up, from some other spot in the State, soon thereafter.

A new wrinkle is seen in politics down in Baker County. Roy Harris quotes the Talmadge people in Baker as being so anxious to carry their county unanimously for Herman that they are asking the "few" Thompson voters either to vote for Talmadge or co-operate by staying away from the polls on election day. Let us hope they don't use too "forceful" an argument on any of the voters to get them to stay at home.

The 1949 Legislature will find Frank C. Gross, of Toccoa, as a Talmadge stalwart in the House for the first time in his political career. Gross will be elected without opposition. An Arnall supporter when he was President of the State Senate, Gross was defeated by Thompson for Lieutenant-Governor and shifted to the Talmadge side of the fence last year. Talmadge leaders say the fact that a Talmadge supporter was unopposed for the House means that Stephens County, which backed Carmichael in 1946, will vote for Herman this year.

Cheap Human Life in Georgia

(H. T. McIntosh in Albany Herald)

Some of the most revolting homicides in the history of this State have occurred recently—killings for revenge, for robbery and for what would seem to be pure, unadulterated human cussedness. Details of some of these crimes as related in newspapers are almost unbelievable. A Coweta County case in which local officers seem to have done some very good work in following dim trails and making arrests is an example. Local men are charged with having beaten a white tenant farmer to death, dragged his body to a remote place, burned it and buried the bones. Trial of the case promises to be sensational.

It is not unfair to say that laxity in prosecuting cases of this sort, and failure to exact the extreme penalty in every case of brutal murder, have had a good deal to do with the increase in the number of such killings. The all-too-easy parole of those convicted, not to mention outright pardons which for all too long were available, have not been calculated to "put the fear of God and the law" into the hearts of those tempted to commit murder. Georgia's record in this matter is not one to which citizens can point with pride, and we are now reaping some of the bitter fruits of playing loose with laws placed on statute books to provide for just punishment and to protect the innocent.

Notes on the Donkey Serenade

I was not one of those who yearned toward Jackson, Miss., where the donkey serenade recently was led by those self-promotional Governors of Mississippi, South Carolina and Arkansas.

This was the meeting of disintegration and frustration.

At Tallahassee, Fla., for the initial "revolt," there were nine Governors to consider a protest against Harry Truman.

At Washington, D. C., two weeks later, the number had shrunk to six.

At Jackson there were but three Governors, those from South Carolina, Mississippi and Arkansas. The boys were down from nine to three.

The proceedings were so obviously financed for the benefit of some yet unrevealed objective, and so plainly in the hands of the crowd from Mississippi and South Carolina, that the Georgia people sensibly withdrew to tote their own skillet of opposition.

Oil It was obvious at Tallahassee that the big oil interests were stirring the boys up. They put the tidelands oil controversy right up alongside pure womanhood and States' rights.

They did it again at Washington. And at Jackson there was the resolution in behalf of oil right alongside the resolution against Harry Truman. There was no Governor from Texas at Jackson, and no official group, but there was a group which sang "Deep in the Heart of Texas," in oily tenors.

Names A lot of names popped out of the news reports from Jackson.

One was that of State Sen. Warren, who four years ago was the leader of the anti-Roosevelt forces in South Carolina.

Another was Mrs. F. R. Carlton, of Texas. In 1944 she was one of those who led the organization in Texas which sought to make the Texas electors withhold their votes from Franklin D. Roosevelt . . . an effort which failed. She was at Jackson.

There at Jackson also was Horace Wilkinson, of Alabama. It was he who led the extremely bitter campaign against Sen. Lister Hill in 1944, denouncing the Roosevelts as enemies of the people.

There were others there—all familiar as the anti-Roosevelt crowd of 1940 and 1944—now hovering about this "revolt," hopeful of sabotaging the Democratic Party. One wonders where the money is coming from. The reports speak of expensive pamphlets and tracts—all paid for with someone's money.

Money Walter Silers, Speaker of the House of Representatives in Mississippi, is quoted as having said a war chest of $2,500,000 was available.

That's not kudzu!

Who put it up?

He says there will be plenty of money to finance a convention—at Birmingham—if the Philadelphia convention nominates Mr. Truman. To that convention will be invited all Southern delegations.

I don't doubt the money is available and I don't doubt that the convention will be attempted—and it is easy to guess why Birmingham is the place selected . . . where the cash will be available.

Bolting But, whether the Democrats will be there I don't know. I doubt it. Fighting in the convention is one thing. Withholding the electoral votes is another. But bolting the party is something else.

I somehow doubt that the boys will take a walk to Birmingham—not in any great numbers.

The old hates keep simmering. They have been boiling over since 1936 when the two-thirds rule was abolished. The Roosevelts, the New Deal, the inevitable decisions by the Supreme Court relative to citizenship rights—all these clashed with an old conservatism and began to make less sure the grip of the old politicians. It is no mere coincidence that the cry is loudest today from the poll tax States.

The revolt hasn't jelled yet. It can't do that for weeks to come.

Former Gov. Ellis Arnall's prediction that delegates pre-convention-pledged against the party's nominees will not be seated, is possible, but not very probable. The National Convention can't bolt the State parties any easier than the States can bolt the national party.

The gathering at Birmingham, if there is one, will not be large. After all, even in politics, you can't buy everything with money.

New Parental Pest Is 'The Hunky Man'

You've seen them, peddling those little, white tricycles with a box in front? Said box containing frozen delicacies, "Eskimo Pies," "Popsicles," et al.

Each "Hunky Man" carries a bell attached to his vehicle and the sound of its ring is the signal for every young'un on the block to run to Mummy and demand a dime to "get a Hunky." If you know how persistent infant appeals can be, you know how hard it is for Mummy to say "no." And make it stick.

Franklin, the "Hunky Man" constitutes a pestiferous tribe to most mothers.

Not that the confections they sell are injurious or, even, bad for the health of the children. They are, probably, even beneficial if consumed in reasonable quantity.

The pest angle arises because there are too many "Hunky Men." There would be little, if any, ground for complaint if the sound of his bell was heard but once a day in any given neighborhood. But the breed seems to have been prolific during the Winter. They have swarmed out this Spring like locusts or boll weevils in an area where no control has been attempted.

When three or four Hunky Men roll down the same quiet residential street in one day, it is too much.

Expensive, Too For, no matter how frequently they come, three and four-year-olds always demand immediate patronage. And when Mummy really says "No!" on the third or fourth visitation, and makes her denial stick, loud is the wailing and many are the tears.

While a dime a day might be managed, 30 or 40 cents is too heavy a burden on housekeeping moneys already sagging under the cost of living.

Wonder if some kind of a peace treaty couldn't be arranged with the Hunky Men or their employers? An agreement, say, to guarantee a certain minimum patronage in return for a promise that only one Hunky vehicle will sound its bell in your neighborhood within any 24-hour period.

There is an odd sidelight on family economics in the activities of the Hunky Men. Undoubtedly, they go where the sales are most frequent. And if you'll notice there seem to be more of them the lower in cost are the homes. I rarely see one in the really swanky living areas. But on a street of little, old frame houses, undeniably a "poorer section," they'll be swarming, three in sight at a time.

Either poor kids eat more Hunkies than rich youngsters, or there are more potential customers to the block in the lowe rprice housing areas. Come to think of it, that is probably the answer. For it is axiomatic that the poor run to larger families. And the houses are closer together.

Prewar Model In Decatur, where I live, before the war there was a predecessor to the modern Hunky Men who carried his wares in a specially fitted Model T Ford. Refrigerator and all. And announced his coming on any block with a bugle call.

We didn't mind him for he was the only one and he came not more than four times a week.

We'd gladly swap all today's purveyors of the frozen stuff for that Model T dispenser. The bugle was louder than the bell, but by no means so frequent.

And it is the frequency of the visits of which we complain.

ALTAR STAIRS By John Marvin Rast

Ye are the light of the world. A city that is set on an hill cannot be hid. Neither do men light a candle, and put it under a bushel, but on a candlestick; and it giveth light unto all that are in the house.—Matthew 5:14,15.

Truly has it been said that if you give men light they will find their own way. Albert Schweitzer drives home this truth in his assertion that the one essential is light in ourselves. Possessing it, he says we will know one another in the dark, without having to pass our hands over others' faces or intrude into others' hearts. And where shall we find such light? Only where men have always found it: at the throne of Him who is able to keep us from falling and to present us faultless before the presence of His glory with exceeding joy.

"From sinking sand He lifted me,
With tender hand He lifted me,
From shades of night to planes of light,
O praise His name, He lifted me!"

If Genius Were Contagious....

I am not, goodness knows, a citizen to tote wood for another's caliope.

But today—because they are, respectively, too modest and too lazy to do it themselves—I am shilling for the Messrs. McGill and Martin, who wellnigh monopolize the current issue of The Saturday Evening Post.

In Martin's case, of course, this is nothing new. In recent months his name has appeared in The Post as regularly as Benjamin Franklin's. Martin has parlayed a rare insight into human nature, a genuine genius for describing it, and a backyard full of cats into national prominence.

An even more prolific personage, at least literarily, is Ralph Waldo Emerson McGill, a reformed sports writer whose work you doubtlessly also have seen from time to time on this page. Having spoken disparagingly in the past of his short political essays, I am due McGill an apology as well as admiration for his "Will The South Ditch Truman?", of which The Post thinks enough to make its lead piece in the current issue.

McGill and Martin are the Citation and Coaltown of The Constitution stables and, while their brilliance has long since been recognized by Georgia readers, it is good to see it acclaimed by a national audience.

It is seldom—indeed, unprecedented—that a couple of characters from the same editorial pages make the same issue of The Post and those of us associated with them are naturally proud.

Incidentally, wouldn't you have thought that, being around so much talent, a little of it would have rubbed off on me?

THE PULSE OF THE PUBLIC

The Constitution welcomes letters on either side of any subject. They should not exceed 200 words and must be signed, although names will be withheld on request. We regret none can be returned. Address all letters to Editor Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

McGill Serves the Nation

Editor Constitution: Your excellent newspaper is fortunate in having as its editor the brilliant young journalist, Ralph McGill.

Mr. McGill comes from a State which has produced some really great men, a few Presidents and Hon. Cordell Hull. McGill is tolerant, sensible, fearless and he knows the world as few men do.

It is my prediction that Mr. McGill will stand out as the peer of Henry Grady, Clark Howell, Sr., and other great editors. Such men serve an American need. The South is proud of them.

Stinging Reply

Editor Constitution: Thanks for your editorial in The Constitution of May 13, "When You Nail Down a Lie," replying to a scurrilous article in the Chicago Defender.

Your editorial was so clean, clear-cut, genteel and dignified and cutting that every one who read your reply must feel grateful to you for your defense and your strong language and the editor of the Defender must feel the sting of rebuke, if capable of such a feeling.

But for such persons as those who publish the Defender gentility is, of course, an unknown mental quality and I guess your reply fell on deaf ears, blunted and distorted minds. Disrespect for everything white is what makes such publications saleable down South among the Negro clubs and societies.

Fourth Graders Impressed

Editor Constitution: The fourth grade of Liberty Guinn School visited the new Constitution building last week.

We enjoyed every moment of our trip.

Your building is beautiful and we learned the meaning of the word "modern" when we entered the building.

In every department we were greeted by your employees.

We learned that it is hard work to get us a newspaper.

Your Miss Croft served as our guide and she knows everything about a newspaper and radio station.

Each of us wish to thank you for letting us see your building and radio station WCON.

Irish Admirer

Editor Constitution: I am a schoolboy at one of the Irish public schools and am 17 years of age. Amongst other things I am very interested in American history and particularly in the Civil War. I am an "ardent Confederate" and from whatever side I look at the struggle it seems to me the South was in the right. It is a real regret of mine that I was not alive at the time of that struggle, for if I had been I would surely have gone out and fought for the gallant South.

The actual purpose of my writing to you is if you would be so kind as to put me in touch with a Southern boy or girl of about 16 years. I would like to hear "first-hand" accounts of the fight of the South, and if they could be of old country families whose records go back to the Civil War, I would be very indebted to you indeed. More About Pay

Editor Constitution: Well, well, at last we've found the engineer that makes $6,000 per year, that Mr. Truman and the railroads put out as the average engineer's earnings for 1947.

There must be one job like his on every railroad. Most main line jobs go out one day and come back the next. And who pays for his room and board at the other end? Not the railroad. It comes out of the so-called $5,000 or $6,000 he's supposed to make.

But I'm like the engineer, I wouldn't be a ghoul and bite the hand that feeds me. I made $2,977 last year, but I laid off approximately 45 days. That's not as many days as if I had been off every Sunday.

I wrote a letter to you last week, stating a yard fireman's salary would be $3,383.55 if he worked 365 days.

As for an engineer or fireman working seven days a week, I didn't say that. I said if he makes $3,383.55 (yard fireman) or $4,004.05 (yard engineer) he has to work 365 days per year all at straight time.

It isn't right to take the highest salary on a railroad and call it the average pay. Because where one percent would make that much, the other 99 percent would make far below that.

Dad Howe Still Defies Time

SAVANNAH—Strutting like a bantam rooster despite his nearly 94 years, Dad Howe walked into the restaurant and hitched his tiny frame up on a stool at the counter. His overseas cap was over one eye, like always, and his spade-shaped chin beard, touched with silver at the sides, was neatly cut and jaunty. Only by looking at his eyes could you tell that he was an old man, and tired, but still full of resolution. He didn't see me sitting there, so I told the waitress to go over and tell him to come sit with me. She tapped him on the shoulder and spoke to him and he looked around and saw me. He didn't know who it was for an instant, and then he did, and he came down off the stool with a bound and came over, calling my name, and he grabbed me by the waist and hugged me and I thought for a minute he was going to cry.

Things have been both good and bad for Dad since last I recorded his journeyings across the country—that amazing effort he made two years ago to cross the continent on foot, just to prove to himself and to all old folks everywhere that a man should never give up, no matter how old he is. When he got back from that trip and we put him on a plane in Atlanta, so that he could come home in style, even though illness did foil him when he was little more than half-way across, he came back to Savannah and got a job selling papers, and for a while he did fine. Everybody knew the old man, and he sold papers right and left, making up to $6 or $7 some days. He was doing so well he decided to get married, and did, to a young lady of some 35 years, a woman, he says, "gentle, kind and good, though not pretty." She had suffered from infantile paralysis when a child, and in consequence was slightly lame, though not so much so that she could not keep house for Dad, and cook for him, and look after him. She was a lonely person, too, and marrying Dad, it seemed, made life a little less bleak for her, for Dad, too, is "gentle, kind and good," and he did his level best to provide for her.

Then Dad lost his job with the paper—quit it, rather—finally, when they cut down on his territory, he said, until he was making only 60 cents a day. The two of them couldn't live on that, and for three weeks Dad lived on a cup of coffee and a piece of bread at each meal, and nothing more, so that his wife would have food. Then he quit, and got himself one of these little push carts with a bell on it, and started selling ice cream on the streets, doing not well, but well enough to keep him going.

Then the old dream possessed him again. Here he was, an old man and a failure, and folks were sometimes unkind enough to tell him that he was so old he might as well give up and die, that he wasn't any good any more. And that made him mad. So he saved up a few dollars and got himself a second-hand bicycle, and started out again across the country. He felt he had to do it, for if he could make it this time, he would know then that there was some life in the old dog still, and that at 94 a man, if he be of stout heart and firm resolution, could do a great thing. Maybe it was a foolish thing, but it took courage, and he wanted to try it.

He didn't get so far this time as he did the first trip. He got to a little town in Alabama, 480 miles away, and then, coming down a long hill, the brakes failed on his bike and he crashed into the side of a bridge and smashed his wheel and he fell and rolled down a steep bank, unhurt but badly shaken. So he sold the wreck of the wheel for enough money to come home on, by bus, and he rolled in home one morning at 3 a. m., with $1.20 in his pocket, all the money he had in the world on which to start over.

He and his wife are living now in a third floor walk-up, two rooms, very clean, but bare of all but a bed and a couch, and there are no sheets for the bed. And he's still determined to save up enough to buy himself another bicycle, a new one this time, and set out again on the long trip West. He knows he is going to make it this time.

"They laugh," says Dad, "and say I'm too daggoned old. But I'll show 'em. As soon as I get my new wheel—and I'm going to keep on trying if it takes me until I'm 100—I'm going to light out again. You tell folks that for me, won't you."

Then he cocked his cap over one eye and started off down the street, 90 resolute pounds of tiny little man—the bell on his little cart tinkling a challenge to time, and old age, and illness and hunger, and all the things that long ago would have broken a weaker man.

"Work among the flowers, close to the soil, and you will find your garden taking you away from the cares of living."
—Excerpt from garden magazine.

A garden is a wondrous place . . . it may be a restricted space . . . or one of many acres which . . . will help impoverish the rich.

It is a place one may commune . . . with bugs which hibernate till June . . . with aphids, beetles, worms and ants . . . who seem to think the tender plants . . . which thrive in Summer's sultry heat . . . were heaven-sent for them to eat.

A garden brings a gentle thrill . . . when we observe the water bill . . . or when the rare, expensive seeds . . . produce a healthy crop of weeds . . . where one may in the evening lurk . . . and gaze on Nature's handiwork . . . where one may rest awhile, or play . . . or, if he wishes, kneel and spray.

Your garden may not win a prize . . . and what you pay to fertilize . . . the hollyhock and buttercup . . . would keep the local florist up . . . a garden is a taking spot . . . it takes 'most everything you got.

The Inquiring Photographer

THE QUESTION:

Aside from the Bible, what book has most influenced your life?

THE ANSWERS:

FRED J. MIKLES, Wilmington, N. C., draftsman—I think "Gone With the Wind." It's more about my home than any other book—and I read it while I was away from home. The only thing it did was make me homesick. I was in Australia when I read it. The part I didn't like — it ran down the American woman through the leading character in the book. It more or less lowered the foreign readers' opinion of American women.

H. E. HONEA, Rt. 1, Stone Mountain, Ga., painter—I don't hardly know. Just any other book? I believe "Gone With the Wind." Let's see — it's been so long since I read it. I just can't remember. I just liked that book, that's all. One reason, is because my home is in Brookhaven, along the old Decatur Road. One place she wrote about was the corner of old Decatur Road and Peachtree.

STANLEY WARSAW, Chicago, Ill., assistant plant superintendent, brick firm—Something from college, most likely—any one of the economics books. That's my field. I couldn't name one book or one author. They led naturally one into another. It's a field of study that begins simply and grows more complicated. Probably those have influenced me most because they have interested me.

JOHN F. LACY, 1476 N. Highland Ave., N. E., photographer—Darwin's Theory of Evolution. It offers more concrete evidence in that it is supported by findings in the field of anthropology and general history. I tell you, I think the Bible is more of a record of the Hebrew race, rather than the history of the world.

MRS. MARY BARNETT, 1127 Hollywood Rd., N. W., homemaker ("I refuse to be a housewife.")—well, I couldn't say. I've read so many different books. I really believe I enjoyed "St. Elmo" more than any other. I remember he was very mean and then, he changed. A very sweet little girl influenced him just by her life—she lived what she preached.

Beware of Rep. Rivers at the Wheel

WASHINGTON—If you see an automobile with a South Carolina license on it, I suggest you duck. Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, of Charleston, may be at the wheel—shaving himself on his way to work. I have no doubt that he's an expert at shifting gears with his right hand while he works up a lather with his left. Or maybe he brandishes an electric razor through traffic. But it sounds dangerous to me.

This confession by the gentleman from South Carolina came up at the Senate Finance Committee's inquiry into taxes on oleomargarine. Everybody knows the Senate's going to eliminate these taxes, but the Committee's got to go through the motions, anyhow.

Sen. Alben Barkley, of Kentucky, said this new-fangled oleo that you massage to make it yellow is a tricky thing. A fellow can buy a pound of it for his wife, he said, and before he gets off the streetcar at home, he can have it nicely colored.

It still oughn't to be taxed, snapped Rep. Rivers, who wrote the bill that would put yellow oleo on the grocers' shelves. He's mixed a lot of oleo for his wife, he continued, but never en route. He just shaves when going places. "I keep a razor in my car," he said. "And sometimes I shave myself on the way to the office."

Soon the Senators were in an elegant argument about how to identify pats of margarine in restaurants so that the customers would know they weren't getting butter.

Sen. Robert Taft, of Ohio, thought maybe the oleo plate ought to have a sign on it: "Oleomargarine." Then the diner-out would be sure.

This did not worry witness Donald Montgomery, a representative of the CIO. Make the restaurants label margarine if you want, he said, but why not make 'em put signs on their other foods, too?

"On second thought," he said, "I wouldn't mind if you'd pass a bill outlawing this processed cheese. I don't like the stuff."

And another thing, he said, when he orders a cup of coffee in a restaurant, he hopes he'll get coffee but often he doesn't. He wishes Congress, in its wisdom, could see fit to do something about that, too.

Anyhow, testified Dr. Anton J. Carlson, of the University of Chicago, margarine is a fine, wholesome food. One of his scientific colleagues in California has fed 21 generations of rats on oleo instead of butter. That is equivalent to 600 years in the lives of humans, and the rats still feel fine.

And some day, when I feel brave, I want to watch Rep. Rivers shave while he drives downtown.

ELLIS ARNALL

We Need a Good Dose of Democracy

(From Former Gov. Arnall's forthcoming book, "What the People Want," as previewed in Survey Graphic.)

It was early in 1947 that I set out on a speaking trip that carried me into every section of our country. I talked with a great many Americans. They differed very little in their thinking. They wanted a program of liberty and progress for our country. But they wanted it to be THEIR program. They were unwilling to accept a ready-made concept of American policy, either foreign or domestic.

Men will not get their desire in a day. They must move forward clumsily and experimentally, tasting of this or that forbidden fruit, and wandering down one or another bypath that leads nowhere. But they will press on.

Nothing that I have seen in the United States alters that conviction. Nor is the conviction altered that the best defense of democracy can be provided by an extension of democracy, and that the application of democratic methods to a solution of our domestic and foreign problems is essential if we are to have either national or personal security. There is nothing the matter with America or the world that a good dose of democracy will not cure.

What do the people want? I asked that question in every State that I have visited. Although there were differences in emphasis, because of different local conditions, the answers were essentially the same.

The people of America read the same newspaper accounts, furnished by the great wire services; they read the same columnists, the same magazines, the same books; they listen to the same radio programs and laugh at the same jokes.

The people want peace and national security, but they want these as elements in individual security and not at the sacrifice of any essential freedom. They are hostile to imperialism.

The people want homes, and they want these to be available to all classes of citizens. The American tradition is a home for every family. The American dream is of a comfortable home; perhaps, a little overcrowded with gadgets, but it represents their belief that comfort is not a reprehensible ideal in a free country.

The people want jobs. They believe in an economy of abundance, in employment for every person able and willing to work. They believe that depressions can be averted, if government, labor and industry show good sense.

The people distrust monopoly. They distrust American industrialists who enter into private trade treaties with European cartels. In the South and West, they are especially concerned with the transportation monopoly. In the Missouri Valley and New England, it is the electric power monopoly that they fear. While they recognize the expediency of monopoly in some fields, which they think should be regulated drastically, they believe that competition is the basis of the American free economy, and they want freedom of competition restored by vigorous law enforcement.

The people want labor organizations held accountable for their contracts; they oppose unreasonable and restrictive labor practices in the same way that they do monopolies which slow down production. The song of scarcity, whether sung by monopoly or labor, is out of tune with American aspirations.

The people want a reasonably stabilized cost of living. Throughout the nation, the standard of living of the white-collar worker has declined since 1942, while that of the industrial worker has dropped sharply since 1945. Throughout the country, there was a suspicion that many shortages were deliberate, and that full production was not being attempted. They noted that the greatest shortages occurred in those industries that were cartelized.

The people want a program of education that will be both realistic and democratic. Among the younger Americans there was a demand for more instruction in history and government, as well as a greater variety of vocational training. The people wanted good schools and, in most sections, felt that Federal assistance through an equalization fund to economically depressed sections was essential.

The people want a health program. They are weary of a discussion of this-or-that alternative plan of providing health insurance, of the failure of the colleges to provide more physicians and of the political disputes over their ability to pay for a comprehensive public system of hospital and medical care. They want more doctors and nurses and dentists and hospitals and clinics.

The people want an end to the preaching of racial and religious hate. While they suspect some minorities of an unjustified sensitiveness, they are weary of the failures to adjust these problems upon the American ideal of freedom.

The people want their civil rights protected. Many were perturbed because of the un-American attitude of some congressional committees. More were concerned with censorship sprees that are common at this time. Labor leaders were concerned about the reappearance of the labor spy.

The people want equal rights and justice for all citizens and sections. Sensibly, they recognize that no American can be deprived of his rights without establishing a precedent that may rob all of us of some essential freedom.

The subdivision of our nation into regions, each with a peculiar economic problem due to the distortion of our principle of domestic free trade or the exploitation of the people and their land by colonial methods, is distasteful to every citizen.

The division of our country into classes and castes is also distasteful. Essentially, the American dream is of a classless and equalitarian society. Equality is not a matter of the size of houses or the number of automobiles owned; equality is the recognition by each citizen of the dignity and worth of every other individual.

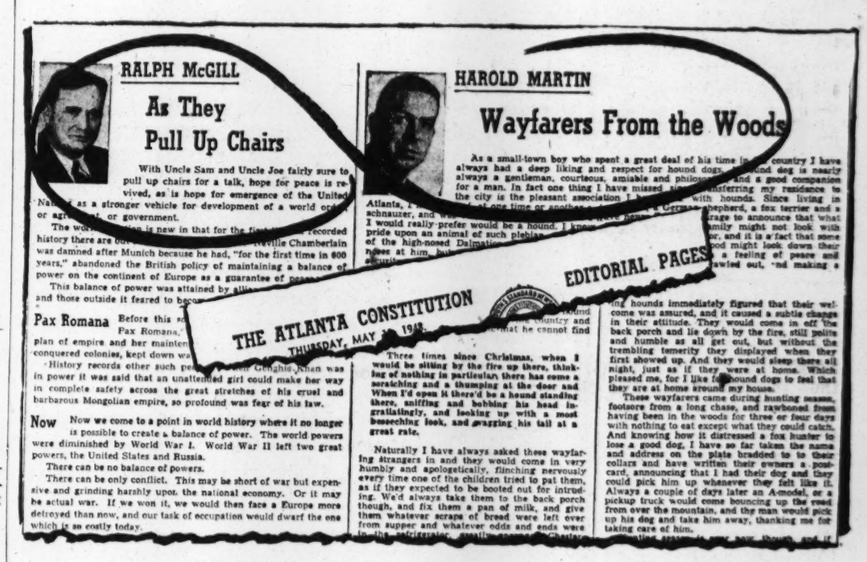

Americans see all those things as desirable, in themselves; but they see them as only means toward an end. The end is freedom for the individual.

There have been many changes in our country since the first colonists appeared. The great forests have been cut, and the prairie has been broken by the plow, and cities have been founded, and rivers harnessed. But the changes in America have been superficial, for the dream is the same.

It is the dream of a country in which men and women can do as they please, where they can live their lives as they choose, where they are the masters of their fate, and where they can pursue elusive happiness in the manner that best satisfies their hearts.

Here's that fabulously fine

Studebaker Land Cruiser

Styled to be looked at... and looked out of!

EVERYTHING is distinctive—and every mile you ride is a thrill in this big, beautifully proportioned, extra-long-wheelbase Studebaker.

You see almost as much as in an open car, thanks to this Land Cruiser's panoramic one-piece windshield and oversize windows.

You relax in the luxury of nylon upholstery—for the first time in any motor car!

This Land Cruiser is a car of impressive size—but it parks and maneuvers with delightful ease. It rides so restfully that even a hard day-long drive doesn't fatigue you.

Come in and get first-hand information about this dream car.

Check up also on the other dramatically different new sedans, coupes and convertibles that distinguish today's far-advanced Studebaker line.

New Rich's Executive

Guillozet Heads Rich's Relations Post

Joseph Guillozet, 40, a Middle-Western woodworking and amateur photography enthusiast who, incidentally, has been "a store man since the age of two," Tuesday became Sales Promotion Manager of Rich's, Inc.

He will serve as Director of Advertising and Public Relations.

A native of Ohio, Mr. Guillozet came to Atlanta from Douglas, Ariz. He is the son of an Ohio merchant, a former newspaper and advertising man, and formerly was associated with G. Fox & Company, of Hartford, Conn., and Rike-Kumber Company, of Dayton, Ohio. He was graduated from Miami University and Dayton Art Institute.

For the present, the new Rich's executive is stopping at the Georgian Terrace. His wife, the former Miss Arlene Fortney, of Kingwood, W. Va., and their son, 11-year-old Noel, will join him here June 15.

RIALTO — STARTS THURSDAY

TODAY in RADIO

By PAUL JONES

Ethel Merman, whose vocal outbursts sound something like a vocalizing Gravel Gertie, takes time off from her Broadway appearances in "Annie Get Your Gun" to sing a few tunes which were not written by Irving Berlin.

The gravel-voiced song plugger will join Bing Crosby in rendering a medley of "discouraged dif-ties" which have "made" Crosby's "Flop Parade." . . . Included are: "Boise, Idaho," "Tortured," "Wash Day In the Sky" and "Tears In My Eyes." . . . The time is 10 p. m., the station, WCON. . . .

Evelyn Knight's favorite tune, "I Remember Mama," will receive one of its infrequent radio renditions on WCON and ABC at 10:30 tonight during the Star Theater when Evelyn and Gordon MacRae get together for another songfest. . . . They have also scheduled: "You Are Too Dangerous," "Don't Blame Me" and "Feller With an Umbrella." . . . "The Amazing Prosecution of Mr. Dix," a true story of a rector in New York City, will be dramatized at 8:30 on WAGA tonight. . . . This is a strange story of hatred against a kindly clergyman that almost cost him his sanity. . . .

James Melton, Georgia tenor star of the Met, treats listeners to his version of "Le Reve," the dramatic aria from Massenet's opera, "Manon," at 9:30 tonight on WGST. . . . Melton's other melodic offerings include: "Joshua Fit the Battle of Jericho" and "Mavis," by Harold Craxton. . . . Vox Pops' Parks Johnson and Warren Hull will pay tribute to editors of weekly newspapers when they interview correspondents of the Lisbon Falls, Maine, Enterprise at 8:30 tonight on WCON and ABC.

Colored Theaters

81—"News Hounds" and "Sport of Kings."

ASHBY—"Woman on the Beach" and "Black Widow."

CHANNING COPE'S ALMANAC:

Can't Be Everywhere, But Can Still Wish

WEDNESDAY, MAY 19, 1948

Suggestion of the day: See if the Bermuda, Dallis, white Dutch clover, etc., are taking the weather in their stride or if they are giving way before it. Notice particularly the hillside pastures, then compare these with sericea and kudzu.

FESCUE RALLY

Of course a person can't eat his cake and have it, too, and can't be in two places at the same time, but there are several places we should like to have been during the past two weeks, while we were away in Nebraska and Florida. One of these occasions was the Kentucky 31 Fescue meeting at the Suiter farm in Menifee County, Ky. The growers of this grass got together and did honor to William Suiter, on whose farm the Kentucky 31 got its start some 50 years ago.

A delegation of Georgia fescue growers attended the celebration on the fourteenth and we will get a report from them to pass on to our readers. There is something exciting about the discovery of a new plant or an old plant with new uses. It is particularly interesting to recall that this grass lay dormant on the Suiter farm for many years, its virtues as a Winter forage crop being unknown. Now the whole world is beating a track to its door.

We wanted to be at Winder too, when the SCS technicians took over the farm in a few hours time and made a complete conservation farm of it. Such demonstrations are very dramatic, showing the farmers what can be done with men, material, equipment and an idea.

Up in Kentucky the SCS is doing a series of these farm transformations, one after another, in the same vicinity. One of these days, we are expecting the same treatment of our entire Yellow River watershed. Then all will have an opportunity to see what a properly treated watershed can and will produce. Incidentally, it is becoming more and more evident that the watershed is the effective basis to work from.

We would like to have been at Charlie Redwine's barbecue and meeting down in Fayette County this past week. Mr. Redwine is doing a fine pasture building job in a county that needs more pastures and livestock. Reports have it that a pleasant and interesting time was had by all.

A fellow just can't be everywhere, but he can still wish.

May we have the pleasure of your company at 6 a. m. and 12:45 p. m. daily over WCON? R.S.V.P. at 55 on your dial.

As ever,

Channing Cope

ERP Cargo Seen for Dixie Ports

WASHINGTON, May 18—(AP)—Economic Co-operation Administration officials assured a group of Southerners Tuesday efforts would be made to route some European aid shipments through South Atlantic and Florida ports.

Assurances came from Administrator Paul G. Hoffman, of the Federal agency, at a meeting with a Committee from the South Atlantic and Florida Ports Conference.

The Conference includes ports at Wilmington and Morehead City, N. C., Charleston, S. C., Savannah, Ga., Jacksonville, Ft. Pierce, Port Everglades, Miami, St, Petersburg and Pensacola, Fla.

Members of the delegation told reporters Hoffman and his aides said that while the agency did not handle routing of cargo it would use its influence in attempting to send some goods through the Southers ports.

J. F. Sturdivant, of Miami, Conference President, and J. R. Stanfield, Chairman of the Committee, outlined the case for the ports involved.

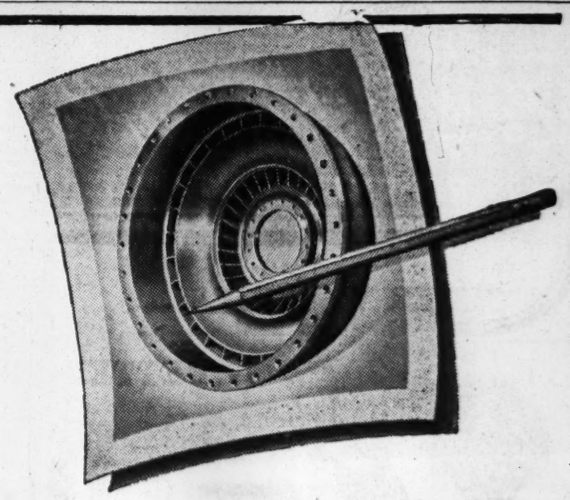

They said the Army took over the ports during the war, and they would be needed in event of another war. However, they said, the present volume of traffic was insufficient to maintain the ports.

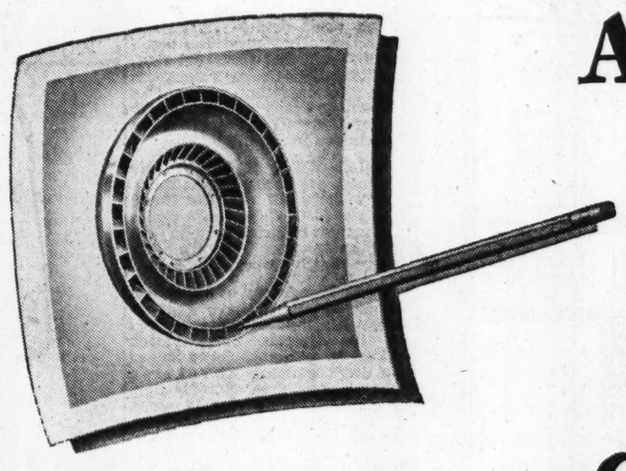

The only source of additional cargo, they told Hoffman, was the European recovery shipments.

Here's the A-B-C of Dynaflow Drive*

A First, there's a highly efficient new-type pump like this, filled with oil. Driven by the engine, it spins, shooting out oil under pressure from the channels indicated by the pencil.

B Then there is a true turbine, like this, with its blades curved sharply to catch the speeding oil. Entering in the openings indicated, oil makes the turbine spin too, thereby turning the rear wheels.

C Finally, there is this unique "supercharging assembly"—three ingenious elements not found on any other car. Mounted between the pump and turbine, they control the force and direction of oil to adjust driving power to different driving conditions—starting, accelerating, hill climbing, etc.

*Optional at extra cost on Roadmaster models only.

PUT all these together and they spell Dynaflow—the first American passenger car drive that requires no changing of gears in normal driving.

Functioning entirely on their own in an oil-filled drum, these parts give you the equivalent of low gear, second gear, high gear—and an infinite number of "gears" in between.

When you start, they give you smooth starting power. When you want to accelerate, they give accelerating power. When you cruise, they give an efficient cruising ratio—all without gear changing on your part.

Just set a lever and press the gas treadle—the power plant does the rest. Once started, you'll never need to touch the selector lever in normal driving until you're ready to park or back up.

You get good engine braking on hills—with more in reserve at a touch on the lever. You get smoothness unimaginable—a new "sweetness" to the whole car—a relief from things-to-remember that makes all-day driving noticeably less tiring.

Look into Dynaflow if for no other reason than to be up to date on what's newest in automobile drives. Your Buick dealer will take your order with or without a car to trade.

Lock Damage Stops Cumberland Traffic

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 18—(AP)—All through traffic on the Cumberland River has been halted because of damage to Lock D near Dover, Tenn., the U. S. District Engineer's Office announced here Tuesday.

Col. H. V. Canan, District Engineer, said the lower gate at the lock was damaged when struck by a loaded barge Monday night. The barge was damaged but did not sink, Canan said. He estimated that traffic will be halted between Nashville and Paducah, Ky., for at least seven days while repairs are made.

News About Georgia

By GEORGE VANCE

Compiled From Constitution State News Reports

L. H. Rice, General Manager of the strikebound Rome Anchor Mills, Tuesday flatly rejected a Union appeal for arbitration because the "matter is not arbitrary."

Rice asserted the 60-day-old strike was called over the check-off and management's refusal to relieve the Union of any civil liability and "we still feel capable of deciding what we are willing to agree to." Replied a CIO spokesman: There is also the matter of protecting older workers against dismissal.

COLLAPSES AT TRIAL

Mrs. Betty Carroll Ellis, young Columbus matron, collapsed Tuesday on the stand at the trial of her father, Jesse Carroll, who is accused of slaying her mother. Mrs. Ellis had told of the shooting at her home March 22 when Carroll allegedly pumped six bullets into his wife, Daisy. The defendant pleaded insanity.

IN TROUBLE

A Federal Grand Jury at Rome charged Kenneth C. Shaw, Columbus auto dealer, with income tax evasion, declaring he paid $1,715 when he should have paid $5,499. . . . James Slay, Columbus taxi driver, was given a four-year sentence when he pleaded guilty to kidnaping a 15-year-old girl. Slay had been held in Hamilton jail on criminal assault charges brought by the girl's family.

CIVIC SIFTINGS

The Golden Jubilee Convention of the Georgia Federation of Labor will open at Brunswick Wednesday, with Acting Gov. Thompson as speaker. . . . One hundred Carroll County citizens chipped in $350 each to construct a large lake on Curtis Creek for recreational purposes and for use as a reservoir in time of drouth. . . . Lavonia will open its $20,000 pool Wednesday. . . . Valdosta Mayor Ed Mathis, Chairman of a committee representing 18 South Georgia towns, said the committee would protest Georgia Power Company's rate increase and ask for a rehearing before the Georgia Public Service Commission.

FROM THE FARM

Pecan groves in the Vidalia area show good promise of producing the biggest crop in five years, with clusters averaging four or five nuts. . . . Moultrie farmers report a poor Florida watermelon season is drawing to a close. Insufficient rains caused disappointing yields, and hot weather ripened the crop too quickly.

Lemon Juice Recipe Checks Rheumatic and Arthritis Pain

If you suffer from rheumatic, arthritis or neuritis pain, try this simple inexpensive home recipe that thousands are using. Get a package of Ru-Ex Compound, a two-week supply, today. Mix it with a quart of water, add the juice of 4 lemons. It's easy. No trouble at all and pleasant. You need only 3 tablespoonfuls two times a day. Often within 48 hours—sometimes overnight—splendid results are obtained. If the pains do not quickly leave and if you do not feel better, return the empty package and Ru-Ex will cost you nothing. You are the sole judge, as RU-EX is sold by your druggist under a money-back guarantee. Over 5 million packages used—proof of wonderful results.

UNDER THE DOME

By JIM FURNISS

FIRE CHIEF—Fred Bowen, recently retired as First Assistant Chief of the Atlanta Fire Department and a hero of the Winecoff fire, has been appointed fire chief at Jekyll Island State Park, State Parks Director Charlie Morgan announced Tuesday. Bowen served 26 years with the Atlanta Fire Department. Recently, he has been an instructor at Fort Benning. Bowen will have a force of 25 maintenance employees available to him at Jekyll Island for his fire department, Morgan said.

BONDS — The Georgia Public Service Commission granted the Atlanta Gas Light Company permission to sell a $3,500,000 first mortgage bond issue 3¼ series to finance expansion of its distribution system. The whole issue will be sold to the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company at 100.75 percent of principal, plus accrued interest.

OLD GLORY — Acting Gov. Thompson has proclaimed June 5-14 Flag Week in Georgia, specially designating June 14 as National Flag Day. Thompson called on public and private institutions to have patriotic exercises and suitable programs to honor the Stars and Stripes.

SPEAKER—Walter R. McDonald, Chairman of the Georgia Public Service Commission, delivered a talk on regulatory law to the graduating class of the University of Georgia Law School.

KU KLUX KLAN — Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook said he could take no further action on the Ku Klux Klan's death benefit operations. Cook, who challenged the plan's legality, said that Insurance Commissioner Zack Cravey's statement they were operating within the law automatically relieved the Attorney General's office of further jurisdiction in the matter.

MILK—Wilbur B. Nall, Atlanta attorney, has been hired as assistant to State Milk Control Board Director S. C. Cole. Nall's duties will include co-operating with Cole and the Attorney General's office in investigative work, Cole said.

PATROL—A total of 390 School Safety Patrolmen have gone to Jekyll Island on outings sponsored by the Georgia State Patrol. School by patrolmen have helped cut down accidents involving school age children approximately 35 percent in the past 10 years, Maj. Elbert Forester, Deputy Director, announced.

Tobacco Firm Ups Pay

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., May 18—(AP)—The R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company announced Tuesday it has given wage increases effective May 17 to its regular hourly-rated and piecework employees. The raise will amount to approximately $1,750,000 annually, the firm said.

IF STOMACH BALKS DUE TO GAS AND BLOAT
Help Get Food Digested to Relieve Yourself of This Nervous Distress

Do you feel all puffed-up and miserable after every meal, taste sour, bitter food? If so, here is how you may get blessed relief in helping your stomach do the job—it should be doing—in the digestion of its food.

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with overdoses of soda and other alkalizers to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people SSS Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic from your drug store today SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

SALLY FORTH Says:

Vacationists at the Beach Make Plans To Depart June 1

As soon as school is out, a number of Atlantans will leave for the seashore to vacation with their children. On June 2, Jean (Mrs. William) Daniel and her children, Jean and Joe, will accompany Ermine (Mrs. English) Robinson and her sons, English and Peyton, to Edisto Beach, in South Carolina, where they will spend two weeks. Bill and English will join their families on weekends.

When the Daniels return to Atlanta, Ermine and her children will be joined for the second two weeks in June by the Dudley Forts and their sons, Dudley, Jr., and Arthur. Gertrude and Bill Martin and their daughters, Trudy and Jane, and son, Billy, will occupy a cottage at Sea Island during June.

Departing on June 1 will be Elizabeth and Walter Sturdivant, their daughter, Corinne, and son, Walter, Jr., who will spend the month at Atlantic Beach. Henrietta and Billy Armstrong will vacation at this same popular resort in July.

Mrs. Arthur Lucas and her twin granddaughters, Margaret and Winifred Storey, will leave in early June for Ponte Vedra, Fla., to vacation at The Inn. The William Beers will also be at Ponte Vedra during June.

Nellie (Mrs. A. J., Jr.) Orme and her schoolgirl daughters, Nellie and Dorothy, will leave by motor on June 1 for Atlantic Beach, for an indefinite stay at the hotel. En route home, they will stop at Sea Island.

Mason and Kathleen Lowance and their sons leave the first of June for Daytona Beach. They have taken a cottage there, as has Mrs. Lynn Adams, of Oklahoma City, whose two daughters will accompany her to the beach. Mrs. Adams is the former Katherine Gurley, and she and Kathleen were classmates at Oklahoma University.

Camilla and John M. Smith, who now reside in New York, will come back to Georgia for their Summer vacation. Next month will find them at Sea Island, where they will open their house for the season.

Emily Albert To Wear Rosepoint

When Emily Albert becomes the bride of Ross Hanahan on June 16, she will wear some real lace that was given her the year she was born, with perhaps the thought that it should some day form part of her bridal ensemble.

The priceless lace was a gift from Mrs. Gus Dodd, who was traveling abroad that year and bought it in Paris. Mrs. Dodd is a lifelong friend of Emily's family and lived across the street from her grandmother, Mrs. Robert W. Davis, until the latter moved recently to West Pace's Ferry Road.

The gift included an exquisite rosepoint lace bonnet and some matching rosepoint medallions. Emily plans to have the medallions inserted into her tulle wedding veil which will be held in place by the lace bonnet.

Party at Bonnie Brae Farms

For the past 30 years a group of prominent Athens matrons have been members of a Reading Club, and the meetings, in addition to being cultural, have also been gay social gatherings.

One of the charter members was the late Mrs. Harry Hodgson, and it was for this reason that her daughter, Hazel (Mrs. Morgan, Jr.) McNeel, entertained the group at a spend-the-day party yesterday at her home, Bonnie Brae Farms, in Marietta.

A very special guest was Hazel's father, Mr. Hodgson. The club members present were Mesdames E. R. Hodgson, Fred Robbins, Julia Reade, Walter Forbes, J. H. McPherson, Milton Jarnigan, D. B. Nicholson, Herman Stegeman, Margaret Hart, Hubard McHatton, Wimberly Robbins and Mark Pope.

BERMUDA—(Via Colonial Air Lines) They were bulging and gray, sitting somewhat heavily in their easy chairs in the lounge when the young couple passed, swinging along in playclothes and carrying a picnic basket, on their way to one of the myriad coves that hide in Bermuda's lush curves.

The man turned to his wife. "I wonder," he mused. "Do you suppose anyone has ever found our beach yet?"

She smiled mysteriously and did not answer. She, too, was remembering 20 years ago.

Bermuda, it seems, is one of those spots designed by nature for romantic little conspiracies, where lovers stroll away from the world and find themselves a hollow of coral reef that shelters them from the world and becomes forever their own. When they are old enough to sit wearily quiet, they still believe they have managed to find and keep some secret spot where no eyes but theirs have ever looked upon the sky and the water in its soft felicity.

That such intimate revealments have been going on for 300 years does not subtract from the personal quality Bermuda seems to hold for every newcomer. It is as if one's own eyes were the first ever to behold its true quality.

There are dozens of main beaches, carpeted with fine pink sand, lapped with clear water that is never blue alone, but azure and turquoise and purple and lapis lazuli there within your very reach and those pink harbors have been claimed and named.

There is that colony of cottages called Cambridge Beaches on the far western tip of the archipelago on Somerset Parish, holding itself aloof from the miniature hurly-burly of Hamilton, where the little ferry chugs across the waters to deliver Hollywood celebrities and hand-picked visitors to bathe in its waters, to dine, al fresco, under the cedar trees and be absorbed in its pervasive peace.

The Reefs, a startlingly beautiful new surf club, is the smart new member of the Belmont Manor and Inverurie Inn triumverate, and it may be a trend away from the sturdy, practical blandishments of old Bermuda. It is inclined to be California-Bermuda, a thing of plate glass windows evaluating the seascape, of overstuffed chairs and a variety of outdoor dining and dancing patios.

No tour of the island passes Pink Beach or Coral Beach, and no carriage misses Waterlot Inn, operated, the Bermudians hasten to tell you, "by our wonderful character, Miss Claudia Darrell, a gentlewoman in her late 70s."

Such activity is not rare in this island, where longevity is the rule rather than the exception. The grieving, insular widows are famous in legend, and it is nothing at all to see old couples of 80 or so pedaling gaily down the lanes.

The photographer who took some special fashion shots for The Constitution is a supple, lank Bermudian named Peter Perinchief, who waved at his old grandfather as we rattled along in our Austin to an appointment. "Grandpa's 90," said Pete. "Says he doesn't think he'll ever die. Wouldn't have any place to go from here, you know."

Grandpa Perinchief is a very smart man.

TO INSURE HEALTHY BABIES

B'nai B'rith Women Open Prenatal Clinic

By LENNA McKINLEY

The B'nai B'rith Women of Atlanta, an organization of some 700 women of the Jewish faith, have added another service to their nationally recognized record for fine humanitarian work.

Tuesday they opened a Prenatal Clinic at 318 Capitol Ave., S. E., where expectant mothers of the underprivileged group will receive the finest medical care possible throughout their pregnancy. The project is a co-operative plan with Grady Hospital.

Among its many services B'nai B'rith has staffed a Baby Clinic for the past three years, first at Formwalt School and now in the Morris Hirsch Clinic, where all work has been done under the direction of the City Health Department, with registered nurses in attendance at all times. Four leading pediatricians have contributed their services to help bring the bloom of health to thousands of children who otherwise might have been handicapped for life.

B'nai B'rith women who volunteered for this work took special courses in order to be able to take case histories, give inoculations and advise mothers on feeding their babies wisely. When children have needed specialized treatment at local hospitals they have given their services each week to transport them to and from the hospital.

Out of their work at the Baby Clinic came the idea for the Prenatal Clinic. Many babies who had come into the world with the odds against them could have been healthy babies from the beginning had their mothers known proper prenatal care, these women realized.

ALTERNATE TUESDAYS

The Prenatal Clinic will be open on alternate Tuesdays, and later, every Tuesday, to render service to any mother who is unable to pay for such medical care herself. Fifteen women have volunteered to carry on this project, for which they have already been trained. Three local obstetricians have voiced their hearty approval of the projects by asking to be allowed to help take care of the patients there. Later, B'nai B'rith women will institute sewing classes to teach these expectant mothers how to make attractive maternity clothes at low cost. And they will give them nutrition courses, to teach them how to feed their babies wisely.

Every woman who applies at the clinic will be given a record of her case history, to keep on her person at all times, so that in the event of an emergency, she can be checked in at Grady Hospital without delay. Further, a permanent record will be provided the maternity ward at Grady, where doctors there can take over the delivery of babies with a complete history of the mother's condition throughout pregnancy.

Chairman of the Clinic is Mrs. Sam Goldberg, who has worked untiringly for the past year to bring this service to reality. Her acting cochairman is Mrs. Mitchell T. Levin. President of B'nai B'rith is Mrs. Joseph Pintchuck, who recently was elected to serve a second term in this role.

SUMMERTIME IS COTTON TIME

Milady Will Wear Cotton More Than Ever This Year

By MAYNITA GERRY,
Constitution Fashion Editor

It's cotton-pickin' time . . . honest!

But don't misunderstand us. We don't mean it's time to sling a burlap bag across your shoulder and tear out to the cotton patch. Rather, it's time to begin picking your Summer wardrobe. This Summer, if you're smart, it will be cotton. It can't miss.

This little fugitive from the boll weevil and the dishpan seems to have at last caught the fickle eye of Mme. Fashion, and you can very well guess what this means.

It means, among other things, that you'll be seeing more cotton than ever before. You'll see it bright and early in the morning, looking crisp, clean and uncluttered on its way to the office or downtown shopping, and you'll see it again, late in the afternoon with only slight variations on its early morning theme. Then if an adding machine is part of your regular equipment, you might compute some figures on the cotton costumes seen at dances, dinner and the theater.

The cotton collection, in other words, is unlimited. There is a cotton dress, suit or ensemble for every occasion, as well as every hour of the day, if you're given to dressing on an hourly basis.

For town, there are wise dark dresses superb for unaffected nonchalance, as well as quiet mannered little numbers for country visiting. And the never-failing boon of the busy career woman, at least one cotton lace dinner and dance dress. Two of these, in different colors, wouldn't be too much.

Many of the more practical cottons of this season are meant to be worn from the office to the beach or country, without a single moral trepidation about leading double, triple or even quadruple lives.

And, as if these qualifications aren't enough . . . cotton, you know, is washable.

Eggs for Lunch

If possible adults should eat four or five eggs a week. If not served at breakfast they make good luncheon dishes.

BRIDGE

By Charles H. Goren

(This is the second in a series of articles on the Blackwood convention.)

When the preliminary rounds of bidding have indicated that a slam is probable, and a suit has been agreed upon (either expressly or by implication) either player may institute the convention by calling four no trump. No special holding is required, but the player making the four no trump bid must be quite convinced that the hand will play safely for eleven tricks. The responses are as follows:

With no aces bid five clubs.

With one ace bid five diamonds.

With two aces bid five hearts.

With three aces bid five spades.

With four aces bid five no trump.

After aces have been shown the four no trump bidder may ask for kings by bidding five no trump. However, there is the very distinct proviso that the five no trump bid must never be made unless it has been previously determined that the partnership is in possession of all four aces.

To illustrate, the opener, late in the bidding calls four no trump. Responder bids five diamonds, showing one ace. The opener now bids five no trump, asking for kings. Responder knows that the opener has three aces, otherwise he would not be in a position to know that the partnership has all four aces and would not be privileged to call for kings.

In other words the five no trump bid is used essentially for getting to a grand slam. If it's only a small slam you are after, what purpose is served by bidding five no trump which automatically places you in a small slam. No purpose except to give the opposition the advantage of knowing how many kings your partner has in case it should prove helpful to them in the defense of the hand.

The responder to the five no trump bid shows the number of kings in the same manner as he shows the number of aces in response to the four no trump bid.

The player who makes the conventional four no trump bid must be careful to plan so that any response by partner will not embarrass him. Such might be the case when the agreed suit, for example, is clubs. The four no trump bidder must in that case, have at least two aces, because if he has only one, the partnership will be in a slam after a five-diamond response, two aces short of their destination.

The question is frequently asked as to whether a void may be treated as the equivalent of an ace in responding to the Blackwood four no trump bid. The answer is decisively NO. The four no trump bid does not inquire as to controls but specifically as to aces. If you treat a void as an ace—partner may reach an improper conclusion if he happens to have the ace of the suit in which you are void.

It is a provision of the Blackwood convention that the four no trump bidder is the captain of the team. When he ascertains the aces and kings held by partner, he, and only he, has the prerogative of deciding on the final contract. The responder has no further voice in the proceedings.

Occasionally the responder may decide to ignore the question asked by the four no trump bid and respond by bidding a slam. This takes place when the agreed trump suit happens to be diamonds and the responder has but one ace and a void. Inasmuch as his response to the Blackwood bid must be five diamonds, he is reluctant to make this bid since his partner, hearing that he has only one ace, may decide to quit at five diamonds. He therefore may take it upon himself to bid a slam. If he thinks it can be made.

Questions and Answers

PERNICIOUSLY PRACTICAL NURSING

Our baby boy . . . both his breasts swollen right after he was born. The midwife informed us he had milk in them and she squeezed them out every day. When she came the last time, the eighth day, she told me to keep squeezing them out every day until the milk was gone. He is now five weeks old and is just the same as ever. We are worried about it. (M. M. J.)

Answer—Had the untutored midwife kept her hands off, the baby would have had no trouble. If you will do so now and leave the breasts strictly alone, you will have no more trouble, provided you or the midwife have not already infected the breasts by the unwise manipulation.

Ten-Hour Filibuster Results In Mrs. Garland's Election

At an election meeting which began at 2:30 p. m. and ended at midnight Saturday, Mrs. Reuben Garland was named regent of the Atlanta Chapter DAR. A filibuster by retiring officers and delayed balloting caused the record-breaking 10-hour meeting of the chapter, which is the second oldest in the United States, having received its national charter in 1891.

At the dinner hour, when balloting was still under way, many members went scurrying to eating places near the chapter house on Piedmont Avenue and returned with sandwiches and cold drinks. Then small groups gathered on the front porch for refreshments and to await their turn in the balloting line.

Most amazingly, Mrs. Garland's election was unanimous, desipte the 10-hour session. She brings to the position many years of experience of earnest and loyal service. She has served as Vice Chairman and chief of pages at the National Congress in Washington for 14 years. She was organizer of the Junior Group of the Atlanta Chapter, served as State Chairman for junior membership and until recently was national advisor of Junior membership. Mrs. Garland is the former Miss Fauntleroy Moon, of LaGrange.

Elected to serve with Mrs. Garland were Mrs. George Cornell,, First Vice Regent; Mrs. Joseph Gilmore, Second Vice Regent; Mrs. Lee McNaughton, Chaplain; Mrs. W. S. Askew, Recording Secretary; Mrs. Charles Davis, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. V. F. Cooper, Treasurer; Mrs. Straiton Hard, Registrar; Mrs. Henry Baker, Historian; Mrs. Ben Hines, Librarian; Mrs. E. G. Twitty, Auditor.

Board members include Mesdames T. C. Mell, E. W. Klein, J. D. Cromer, H. C. Bagley, W. E. Beckham, D. L. McCord, Hollis Morris and Miss Annie Laurie Hill.

Mrs. Kirby-Smith Anderson, of Madison, President General of the National Society of the Dames of the Court of Honor, State President of the Dames of the Court of Honor and of the Colonial Dames of the Seventeenth Century, was further honored recently in Washington, D. C., with the office of Chairman of the National Board of Management, UDC.

The Georgia Society UDC at its January State Board meeting in Macon presented her name for the most coveted honor—that of Honorary State President of the Georgia Division—to be elected at the State convention in October.

A toast was given in Washington, according Mrs. Anderson the greatest number of high-ranking offices of any woman in Georgia.

The Executive Board of the Joseph Habersham Chapter DAR meets Thursday at 10:30 o'clock at the Chapter House.

The Ormewood Victory Club will meet Friday at 8 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Ruby Roberts, 914 Ormewood Ter. Mrs. J. D. Kirkpatrick will be cohostess.

Members of the Executive Board of the South Carolina Club will be honor guests at a luncheon to be given by Mrs. W. A. Upchurch tomorrow at 12:30 o'clock at her home, 1274 Oxford Rd. The hostes swill be assisted by Mrs. Ernest Miller, Mrs. B. Wofford Medlock and Mrs. Aubrey Motz.

Miss Helen Milburn Wed To William Edward Brumby

Miss Helen Lang Milburn became the bride of William Edward Brumby at a beautiful noon ceremony solemnized yesterday at the North Avenue Presbyterian Church, with Dr. Vernon S. Broyles, Jr., officiating.

Following the ceremony, Mrs. William Frank Milburn, the bride's mother, entertained at a reception at the Piedmont Driving Club.

Mrs. Walter Spivey presented a musical program. The lovely young bride was given in marriage by her cousin, Hugh D. Cater, and William R. Healey was best man. Mrs. Thomas C. Holmes, Jr., of New Orleans, was her sister's matron of honor, and the usher-groomsmen were James R. Brumby, Thomas C. Holmes, Jr., of New Orleans; John Thomas Brumby, Mrs. Frank M. Bristol II, William Wilson and Randolph Macon.

The bride chose a wedding gown of lustrous ivory satin, designed with a real lace yoke outlined in seed pearls. Her illusion veil fell from a coronet of orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of gardenias.

Mrs. Holmes was effectively gowned in Nile green, with a matching small bonnet of similar material. She carried a bouquet of Dresden-tinted garden flowers.

YOUNG MATRONS NAME OFFICERS

Mrs. W. Fred Eve, the new President of the Young Matrons' Circle for Tallulah Falls School, will be assisted by the following officers: Mrs. Franklin T. Smith, First Vice President; Mrs. O. Aliv Barge, Second Vice President; Mrs. Nat Harrison, Jr., Third Vice President; Mrs. Morgan Lewis, Recording Secretary; Mrs. J. B. Pendergrast, Jr., Corresponding Secretary, and Mrs. William S. Dennis, Treasurer.

Board members include Mesdames Charles Bethea, Dean Spratlin, McConnell Cubbison, E. N. O'Beirne, Arthur Montgomery, Felix DeGolian, Jackson Dick, Ed Yancey, Jr., Joe Hutchinson, Arch Avary and Julius Lunsford.

MRS. S. D. KIRKLAND

Mrs. Kirkland was before her recent marriage Miss Mary Louise Moore, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Moore. The ceremony took place in the study of the First Baptist Church, with Dr. J. W. Middleton officiating. The couple left for a honeymoon in Florida.

Miss Chaffin Weds Andrew H. Eitmann

John R. Chaffin announces the marriage of his daughter, Miss Anna Earl Chaffin, recently, to Andrew H. Eitmann, of New Orleans and Atlanta. Judge John L. Slappey performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a brown and white ensemble with matching accessories and her flowers were white carnations.

Mrs. V. S. Anagnostis, twin sister of the bride, was matron of honor and wore a blue and white outfit with navy accessories. Her flowers were white carnations. John T. Chaffin served as best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milledge H. Brower. Miss Florrie Stewart and Mrs. Albert Davis assisted in entertaining, and Mrs. John T. Chaffin kept the bride's book.

Mr. and Mrs. Eitmann will reside in Atlanta where Mr. Eitmann is connected with Cummins-Robertson Inc. Laboratories.

THE GEORGIA CIRCUIT

State Scenes Inspire McDonough Poet

By BILL BORING
Constitution Roving Reporter

McDONOUGH—Life for Christine Park Hankinson has been just one couplet after another.

It seems that nothing has been too mundane to excite her poetical mind. She has even adapted chigger-bite scratching to iambic meter.

A Marylander who came to Georgia in 1909 as a young woman, she first viewed the State as a solid poetical mass ready to be broken down. Then she set about doing it.

She has written two thick volumes of poems—all on Georgia. She has put all of the State's history, from Gen. Oglethorpe to yesterday's headlines, into rhyme.

The untold thousands of poems in the two volumes—she has never taken time out to count her poems—are broken down under such subheadings as: "Prehistoric Georgia," "Georgia's Glorious Past," "The Period from 1800 to 1860," "Climate," "Rivers," "Flowers, Trees, Birds and Bees," "Builders," "Schools and Colleges," "Cities and Towns," "Industry and Transportation."

She has even written poems on the parks of the different cities, the months and days of the Georgia years, Five Points in Atlanta—the goober, the watermelon and the turnip green.

It is perhaps the most exhaustive poetical work ever done on a single region.

Last year, following a visit to the Georgia Coast, Miss Hankinson was inspired to write:

"The people of the Golden Isles along the Georgia Coast
"Must hear, when waves are splashing high, the moaning of a ghost,
"The ghost perhaps of some old saint, whose mission now is gone,
"But who returns to keep the watch, and count his beads at dawn . . ."

The poem, titled "The Golden Isles," continued for 30 lines and appeared in the Jan. 8 issue of McDonough's "The Weekly Advertiser," which regularly prints Miss Hankinson's works. It was judged second best among the 3,000 poems submitted in The Best Americana Contest sponsored by the National League of Penwomen.

The poetical chain might start turning in Miss Hankinson's mind at a moment's notice and for the sake of recording her expressions while the inspiration is hot, she keeps a typewriter and desk in every room of her large antebellum house.

One evening at dusk, sitting on her porch, she listened to the laughter of children at play, watched the doorways along the street begin to light, heard the soft footfalls of neighbors going home. She wrote:

"Is there in all the world a sweeter hour,
"Than twilight in a little Georgia town,
"When lamps along the street begin to flower,
"And neighbor feet trip softly up and down . . ."

The great warmth of feeling which Miss Hankinson has held for McDonough through the years has inspired hundreds of poems on the little town. Poetical lines such as:

"McDonough has no mansions, nor any marbled halls,
"Nor even ancient temples with jade and jasper walls;
"But it has schools and churches where kindly people meet,
"And little homes with friendly doors that smile along the street."

IRATE BOSTON BULL TAKES COMMAND OF 8-CAR 'EL' TRAIN IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, May 18—(UP)—A Boston bulldog captured an eight-car elevated train Tuesday.

The small black dog, in a surly mood, ran into one of the center cars when the train stopped shortly before noon at the busy Queensboro Plaza station. His snarling and snapping at passengers' legs sent them in flight from the car.

Conductor Patrick Keating entered the car to remove the dog. He was defeated. A policeman riding on the train joined in the encounter. He, too, took to his heels.

Finally, Keating locked the dog in two center cars whose connecting door was ajar. The train made the run to Flushing, at the end of the line, with two center cars out of use.

Then all passengers were cleared from the train and, with the bulldog the only passenger aboard, it was taken to the Corona car yards and put out of service. Several police squad cars and experts from the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals were summoned.

They found the dog lying, docile, beneath a seat, apparently satisfied with a job well done. An ASPCA man led him away to an animal shelter.

Think of 10 Women Drivers in One Race

We always have been one of those who believe that wrestling stories should appear in the amusement section of newspapers, horse shows on the society pages and stock car races not at all.

However, in connection with the latter, something is rumored about to happen which, in the interest of public safety, should be brought to light.

They are going to arm some 10 members of the fair sex with "souped-up" automobiles and turn them loose on a strip of earth known as the Atlanta Speedway on Saturday afternoon.

At least, that's what the advertisements claim and that's probably what will happen, in the absence of anybody doing anything about it.

After all, the ladies have edged into all other sports and, we guess, there's no reason they shouldn't risk life and limb driving stock cars if they so choose.

But imagine 10 women drivers in a 70-mile-an-hour traffic snarl on those short turns!

Woud Like to See It We would sure like to see the race but frankly, have no intention of being caught anywhere in the neighborhood because of an acute lack of safe vantage points in the surrounding territory.

About the only safe place to watch such an event would be in a helicopeter, but at that it would be bad judgment to hover too near the ground.

We don't have any idea of the type of material used in the construction of the retaining walls at the Atlanta Speedway but nothing less than the steel and concrete of the immovable Maginot Line would seem to us sufficient to guarantee the safety of spectators.

We hope that the owners of the souped-up cars will have all mirrors removed before turning them over to the gals because there's no telling what would happen if Lucky Lucy decided to check her make-up before hitting the stretch in front of the grandstand.

Event Catches On A lady named Mrs. Bob Flock came by the office in the capacity of publicity agent for the event and admitted "we started it as a publicity gag. But it's caught on and now we have more girls trying to get cars to race than we can take care of."

She further admitted she was a little concerned about "somebody getting hurt."

Lady, that's the height of understatement. Any respectable bookie would lay eight to five that somebody does, if not during the race then immediately thereafter.

Just imagine the scene in the pits after the race is over.

"Nice race, Dearie," says Lucky Lucy, carefully applying her lipstick, "too bad you don't have a boy friend so you could celebrate tonight."

"Thanks, Honey," gushes Gravel Gertie, the winner, smiling sweetly for photographers, "but, by the way, if you ever try to cut me off on one of those turns again, I'll claw your eyes out."

"Meow," purrs Wild Wanda, carefully filing her nails in preparation for the impending brawl.

Salmagundi Due To Start

CAMDEN, N. J., May 18—(AP)—William Helis announced Tuesday Salmagundi, winner of the $100,000 Santa Anita Derby, will be a starter in the $50,000 Jersey Stakes for three-year-olds at Garden State Park May 29.

He is expected to match strides with either Citation, winner of the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, or Coaltown in the mile and one-quarter test. Trainer Ben Jones has said he'll send one of the fleet Calumet pair after the rich purse.

Jackets Win Over Plainsmen

AUBURN, Ala., May 18—(AP)—Georgia Tech shelled Willard Nixon, star Auburn pitcher, for six runs in the 12th inning to defeat the Tigers, 12-6, Tuesday.

The win put Tech only a half game behind Auburn in the Southeastern Conference race for the Eastern Division championship.

Tech whipped Auburn, 13-8, Monday. Both have two more games to play this weekend.

The loss was Nixon's first in 10 Conference starts. He has one no-hitter, and two one-hitters to his credit.

Henry Kalb went the route for Tech.

The Tigers scored all their runs in the second. A home run by Red Thomas with none on, and Ray Williams' triple with two ahead highlighted the spurt.

Tech got one run back in the third and shoved over five in the fifth. Rudy Stewart homered with the bases loaded in that frame.

They rocked along that way until the 12th, when Tech burst loose for six runs on five hits, a walk and an error.

WEST FULTON STANDOUT—Lloyd Coursey, classy fielding shortstop for Vic Hansard's Owls, is one of the big reasons West Fulton is leading the NGIC in team batting with a .321 mark. Coursey, holdever star from the 1947 State championship nine, has rapped 14 hits in 41 at bats for a .341 average. Walter Butler will be on the mound today as the Owls invade Canton to face Clyde (Ace) Little's fireball. A win will give the Bankhead Highway boys a tie with Decatur for NGIC crown.

Crackers Bow to Bears, 4-2; Play Pels 2 Here Tonight

By F. M. WILLIAMS,
Constitution Sports Writer

HARTWELL FIELD, MOBILE, Ala., May 18—Lady Luck and a patched-up infield cost Carl Lindquist a beautifully pitched ball game here Tuesday night. He lost a 4-to-2 decision to the Mobile Bears on three unearned runs in the eighth inning.

The tall righthander stood the Bears on their ears for seven innings, but Buster Maynard, who had to be pulled in to play third base when Jack Hollis was thrown out of the game in the first inning by Umpire "Punchy" Leatherwood made a low wide throw to the plate after fielding Bill Hart's grounder in the eighth inning and the error paved the way for the deciding tallies.

Lindquist had the Bears blanked going into the seventh but Hayden Greer, first man up in that inning, homered to pull even with the Crackers, who had scored in the fourth on a walk to Ernie Logan, a stolen base, an error and Fred Chapman's infield hit.

The Crackers came back to score again in the top of the eighth, with two out, Tom Neill drew a walk off young Ken Olson and "Red" Mathis' grounder to second took a bad hop for a hit.

Logan's high fly to short left-center was right in the hole and it fell for a single, Neill scoring.

That was the way things stood to start the Mobile half of the eighth.

Pitcher Olson flied out to left to start the fatal frame, but Cal Abrams singled through the box. Lou Colombo was hit by a pitched ball and George Shuba walked to fill the sacks. Then Hart hit an easy grounder to Maynard who fielded it okay, but his throw to Mathis was wide and before the Cracker catcher could retrieve it, Abrams and Colombo had scored.

Greer then flied to left and Shuba came in after the catch, but it was an unnecessary run.

The victory was the third straight for the Bears and the defeat was the fifth out of seven on the road trip for the Crackers, who return home Wednesday for a double-header with the New Orleans Pelicans.

Although Manager Ki Ki Cuyler didn't say for sure, his pitching choices in the Pel double-header will likely be Bill Kennedy and Bob Katz.

The game starts at 7 o'clock.

Jack Hollis was chased in the first inning by Umpire "Punchy" Leatherwood. Cal Abrons rolled to Hollis and was called safe on a close play at first. There was no argument noticeable to the stands, But later it developed that Hollis asked Leatherwood why he didn't put on a white uniform. That was enough. From recent events it appears the umpires have their knives out for the Crackers.

Bear Pitcher Ken Olson hit Maynard and Chet Hajduk in the first inning but got out of a bad hole when Neill hit into the most difficult of double plays, first to short to first.

Manager Ki Ki Cuyler shifted his line-up in the final game with the Bears. He put Buster Maynard in the lead-off spot and dropped Jack Hollis to sixth. Gene Verble went to third base and Fred Chapman got back in at shortstop.

Lindquist pitched out of a big hole in the second. Hayden Greer, first man up, tripled to right but died on third as Carl struck out Ken Stales, got Gordon Evans on a roller to short and Lou Ruchser on a fly to right.

Owls, Devils Vie In Playoff Friday

West Fulton and Marietta, winners of Bracket four and three, respectively, in the State Class B high school championship playoffs will clash in the single elimination event at 3:30 Friday afternoon on the West Fulton Field.

The site was decided Tuesday by a flip of a coin—over the telephone. West Fulton Coach Vic Hansard let Harrison Anderson, Marietta mentor, do the flipping—and now says he is sure he "knows at least one honest man."

RADCLIFFE GOES AFTER 7TH WIN AGAINST GRIFFIN

THOMASTON, May 18—Hugh Frank Radcliffe, Robert E. Lee High's sensational pitcher, will be after his seventh victory and third no hitter of the season, when he faces Griffin High Wednesday night.

Radcliffe, whose trail has been dogged by major league scouts since striking out 28 batters in a nine-inning game recently, has yet to be defeated this year.

The game will start at 8 o'clock on the East Thomaston diamond.

Indians Humble Athletics To Lead American League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cleveland's Indians moved past the Philadelphia Athletics by a few percentage points Tuesday night and took first place in the American League by trouncing the A's, 6 to 1.

Lou Brissie opened for the Athletics, but went out in the second after the Indians had pounded him for four hits. Bob Savage and Charles Harris followed him. Gene Bearden went the route for the Tribe, allowing six hits.

The St. Louis Browns handed Allie Reynolds his first setback in six starts as they came from behind to beat the New York Yankees, 6-5, at St. Louis. The Browns tallied three times in both the fourth and fifth innings, with Gerry Priddy scoring what proved to be the winning run on Whitey Platt's long fly.

The Tigers staged a seven-run rally in the sixth inning and went on to defeat the Boston Red Sox, 10 to 7, in the opener of a two-game series at Detroit. Hal White, who relieved Starter Virgil Trucks in the fifth, was credited with the win.

Pitcher Ray Scarborough's twelfth-inning single scored Ed Stewart with the winning run as Washington ended a four-game losing streak by beating the White Sox, 5-4, at Chicago.

In the National League, Enos Slaughter's two-run homer backed up steady pitching by George Munger to give St. Louis a 4-3 edge over Brooklyn in the opening game of the Cards' first Eastern trip.

Although the Dodgers nicked Munger for nine hits, the big right-hander was able to take charge whenever the home club threatened.

Spider Jorgensen's home run after Ralph Branca singled in the fifth tied up the game, 2-2, but the Cards bounced right back to regain the lead on Slaughter's clout following Stan Musial's single in the sixth.

The Pittsburgh Pirates snapped Right-handed Bill Voiselle's string of pitching victories at four by beating the Boston Braves 4-3 before 19,181 fans at Pittsburgh.

Ralph Kiner's eighth homer of the year, a long, high clot which bounced off the new scoreboard in left field and which scored a teammate ahead of him, accounted for the Buc's winning margin.

Bobby Thomson's base-clearing double with the sacks loaded highlighted a four-run seventh inning and enabled the Giants to come from behind and defeat the Cincinnati Reds, 6-5, at New York. A fine fielding play by Second Baseman Billy Rigney and First Baseman Johnny Mize on Grady Hatton's infield hit caught Hank Sauer at the plate in the ninth with the tying run. Mize blasted a home run for New York.

Dodds Ponders 2 Meets in Day

NEW YORK, May 18—(AP)—Mile King Gil Dodds, who thinks nothing of running the mile and the two-mile on the same program, may try a new twist next month—appearing in track meets at Boston and New York the same day.

The world indoor record holder and this country's chief hope in the Olympic 1,500 meters expects to return to competition in the New England AAU Championships at Boston June 12.

Noel Harris, manager of a charity meet scheduled at Triborough Stadium here the same day, said Dobbs was considering running in both meets, making the jump by plane.

Tulane Answers Faurot's Blast

KANSAS CITY, May 18—(AP)—Don Faurot, University of Missouri Athletic Director and Football Coach, said Tuesday "keen competition from out-of-State institutions" makes it difficult to keep top-flight Missouri atheltes at home.

"Five or six of the best high school athletes in Missouri I know have visited out-of-state schools with all expenses paid and have received offers," Faurot told the M. U. Quarterback Club here.

"I won't name the boys, but the schools to which expense-paid visits were furnished are Arkansas, Kentucky, Tulane, Mississippi State and Alabama.

"And our friends over at the University of Kansas are included," Faurot said, adding:

"We had agreed that Kansas City was open territory, but when Kansas reaches out into St. Louis or St. Joseph, that's going too far."

"Frankly, I don't like it," Faurot added, "and I don't think such practice falls within the National Collegiate Athletic Association rules. We're either going to have to fold up our tents and go out of business or maybe we should withdraw from the NCAA in order to meet the competition."

Tulane University at New Orleans flatly denied Faurot's charges and called on the Missouri coach to "name names" and to give his information to the NCAA.

Horace Reneger, Director of Public Relations at Tulane, said he tried to contact Faurot by phone but was unable to locate him.

After the attempt he said Faurot's charges "are puzzling to us."

"Not an athlete from Missouri has been at Tulane nor have any tried out nor has any coach contacted any boy in that State," Reneger said.

"That doesn't mean we wouldn't have, had there been a boy who was a relative of an alumnus there or one who had voluntarily expressed a preference to attend Tulane. But it just so happens that not a boy has been here nor has one been approached.

"We invite Mr. Faurot to provide the athletic officials at Tulane with the names of any boys he has in mind and to present the NCAA the same information if he has information which Tulane does not have."

Alabama Football Coach Red Drew said:

"One Missouri boy came here on a visit, but he's not planning to enter the University."

Coach Allyn McKeen, of Mississippi State College, made this reply:

"We do not work in Missouri and so far as I kno wonly one boy from that State has been on the campus and he came down to visit a friend."

Georgia Nine To Open With 'Cats Today

ATHENS, May 18—The Georgia Bulldogs begin the long pull to attempt to finish in the first division of the Southeastern Conference's Eastern half here Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock when they open a two-game series with fourth-place Kentucky.

The Bulldogs now trail the Wildcats by a half game, and they are a full game off the pace of third-place Vandy.

Carl Adams and Gus Hlebovy are expected to pitch against the 'Cats, with Adams the probable choice in the opener.

The 'Cats with a 6-6 record in loop play, trimmed Tennessee, 14-1 and 6-1, over the weekend in its last outings. They suffered their worst defeat of the season earlier against Georgia, losing 26 to 2.

Billy Henderson, fleet left fielder, heads Georgia hitters with a .395 mark. He's followed by Mort Smith at .378 and Chub Jenkins at .370.

Wednesday's game will be the first of four straight for both teams. They meet again here Thursday, then Kentucky moves to Knoxville for a two-game set with Tennessee.

Georgia is host to Tech Friday.

Walcott, Spar Mates Have Rugged Time

GRENLOCH, N. J., May 18—(AP) Jersey Joe Walcott got tough with his sparring partners Tuesday, and the sparring partners got tough with Jersey Joe—and the result was a four-round sparring session that had all the earmarks of an official fight.

Jersey Joe's one round with Billy Norris of Philadelphia got so hot that Trainer Danny Florio had to call a halt, when Walcott after feinting a left, landed a solid right that had Billy wobbling around the ring.

Then the challenger, stepping up his training for a June 23 bout with Joe Louis, went two rounds with Austin Johnson of Atlantic City, and the two of them put on a real slugging party.

All in Favor Of Ferrier In PGA Play

ST. LOUIS, May 18—(AP)—Jim Ferrier will have everything in his favor when he opens his bid Wednesday to become the first "repeater" in the Professional Golfers' Association championship in more than 10 years.

Ferrier won the 1947 championship at Detroit's Plum Hollow course largely because his putter could do no wrong. He played 203 holes in the qualifying rounds and six rounds of match competition and needed only 333 putts—73 under the "par" of two per hole. In conquering long-hitting Chick Harbert, 2 and 1, in the final, Jim putted only 54 times on the 35 greens.

The Norwood Hills Course, where the thirtieth PGA tourney will begin Wednesday and finish next Tuesday appears to favor a good putter and short iron player over the long-driving pros. It's short, for one thing—only 6,440 yards—carefully trapped and the wind blows steadily.

Some long hitters have been complaining that it wasn't exactly a fair test because of the greater premium on accuracy than distance. They were appeased to some extent when the rough was mowed in a graduated fashion, shorter near the fairways. In this way a shot that is only slightly off line won't be penalized too much.

Adler, Heald Cop Ansley Park Feature

Close matches featured third round pay in the annual Best-Ball tournament of the Ansley Park Golf Club, all being won by narrow margins. Charlie Adler and George Heald were forced to go 54 holes to nip Paul Dorn and J. Woodall in the feature. Fourth round matches will be played this week.

THIRD ROUND RESULTS—Dr. B. F. Beesley and Philip Etheridge beat W. Firman and T. C. Schaffe, 1 up; Charlie Aslar and George Heald beat J. Woodall and Paul Dorn, 1 up on 54 holes; Frank Johnson and T. W. Smith downed C. H. Coker and R. C. D. Campbell 2 and 1; W. R. Massingale and Harry Boyte won over William L. Johnston, 2 up.

SECOND ROUND CONSOLATION—E. P. Jones and D. M. Carroll defeated Neil McKay and Hal Morris, 1 up; T. Dees and J. W. Bankston won from J. M. Crain and W. A. Lloyd by default; Joe Haynes and G. M. Phillips defeated Dan Stephens and E. Y. Macrenaris, 2 and 1; George M. Kirk and John H. Glover beat W. Kelly Alexander and E. W. Carter, 5 and 4.

O'Keefe Wins, Ties for Loop Lead As Murphy Shells Roosevelt, 9-4

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

The City League baseball race was all tied up like the nation's necktie supply on Christmas Eve after Tuesday's semifinal round sniping. While Murphy was making its jinx over Roosevelt stick like glue with a 9-4 decision at Kirkwood, O'Keefe climbed into a tie with the Crimson Tide for first place with a 9-5 conquest of Grady at Glenn Field.

Murphy must tangle with O'Keefe and Roosevelt with Grady on Thursday with the pennant chances of four schools—Roosevelt, Murphy, Brown and O'Keefe—hanging in the balance. Grady's Tuesday loss dropped them from a title chance.

Herndon Jenkins' two-run line drive single with two men out in the ninth and two strikes on him gave Bass an 8-7 win over Smith at Candler Park in the last game of the year for Max (Red) Ivey's boys in the other Tuesday loop melee.

Joe Willingham, who outduelled Roosevelt's Edwin Webster, 2-1, earlier in the season, gave the classy righthander his second defeat of the year by flinging a neat eight-hitter at O. V. Bruner's swatters, fanning nine en route. Webster, who fanned eight in six frames, was relieved with the score 5-1 against him so that he might be ready for some duty against Grady Thursday.

An error, sacrifice, singles by Willingham, Jimmy Watson and Emmet Keese and a two-run triple by Don Duvall gave Morris Phelps' Eagles four tallies in the third. Duvall's second triple and Rah Rah Thomason's squeeze bunt gave them another in the sixth.

Duvall, Willingham and Allen Huckaby had two blows each for Murphy. Dick Hayes and Sam Berry rapped two safe blows apiece for the Crimson and Richard Bush was high man of them all with a double and two singles. Bobby Benton's two-run single and Dickerson's triple were other big blows for the winners.

Billy Stewart, O'Keefe ace, let Grady down with nine singles and walked only four while Tookie Henning was sparkling a 14-blow assault on Keith Comer and Lowell Hopkins with a double and three singles. Ralph Smith, heady former Gate City Cardinal backstop; Bobby McCauley and Walter (Bookie) Burns larruped two singles each for the Irish, and Bobby Clark chipped in with a triple. Stewart whiffed seven, of the losers, who were paced by Tommy Tillman and Carl Donaldson, both with a pair of blows.

Fine relief hurling by Neal Malone, who took over from Tommy Thornton in the eighth, figured heavily in the Bass triumph. Jim Dillon, with a home run and two singles, and Jerry Shaw, with a pair of one basers, shared the heroics with Jenkins, whose Horatio Alger blow won the game. Leon Cunningham, Richard Bonner, Catlin and Fowler—the latter pitched fine ball most of the way—belted a pair of safeties each, and Conrad Moon poled a triple for the winless Smithies.

New SEC, Southern Track Champs Seek AAU Honors Here Saturday

By BERT PRATHER

Six Southeastern Conference champions and double winners in the recent Southern Conference meet will be among the expected field of approximately 100 athletes who will compete in the annual Southeastern AAU track and field championships at Grant Field Saturday.

Auburn, picked to battle it out with Georgia Tech for team honors, will be represented by three SEC champs in bespectacled Joe Pennington, 120-yard high hurdles; Whitey Overton, two-mile run, and Fred Carley, one-mile run. Tech's newly crowned Conference kings who will be out to add to their trophies are Buddy Fowlkes, running broad jump, and Young Bob Renshaw, half mile. Martin Korik, Tennessee's great pole vaulter, is the other SEC crown winner who will seek one of the coveted AAU medals and a possible Olympic tryout shot.

The Southern Conference's chief entry is Norman (Scooter) Rucks, who won the 440 in the sensational time of :47.4 last Saturday. Rucks will represent the University of South Carolina along with Ed Coleman, a 49-foot shot putter.

The meet promises to be one of the best SEAAU jamborees since before the war. Several meet records could be broken if conditions are favorable. Rucks, in the quarter, stands a good chance, as does Carley in the mile and Renshaw in the 880.

Alabama, Auburn, Georgia Tech and Tennessee will enter full teams. South Carolina, Emory, Mercer, Oglethorpe and possibly Florida will have scattered entries.

The Birmingham YMCA has entered a weight man and a 100-yard man. Several other individual entries are expected before Saturday. Any runner or field man is eligible, providing he is an amateur and registers with the AAU before the meet.

Although there is no junior division a few high school boys may enter. Tobe Karrh, of Baylor, who won the Mid-South meet pole vault with a jump of 12 feet 8¼, and Joe Conine, of GMA, who has a 22-foot broad jump to his credit, could possibly pick up points.

Preliminaries will be run off Saturday afternoon starting at 2:30 p. m., with the finals in all events scheduled for Saturday night beginning at 8 o'clock.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Pelicans Lose Flair With Appendectomy

Condensed From AP, UP and INS

Al Flair, veteran New Orleans first-baseman, underwent an emergency operation for appendicitis Tuesday and will be lost to the Pels for about six weeks.

Hank Sauer, hard-hitting Cincinnati outfielder, walloped his ninth homer of the season as the last-place Reds dropped a 6-5 decision to the New York Giants. Only Cleveland's Ken Keltner, with 12 circuit smashes, tops Sauer's output in the Majors.

Appling Ties Score

Luke Appling, one of the few bright spots on the lowly Chicago White Sox roster, singled in the tying run in the seventh inning to put the Chisox even with the Washington Senators, and send the game into extra innings. Washington finally won it, handing Chicago its 17th defeat in 21 starts.

Chattanooga released Pitcher Joe Jones to Gadsden, of the Southeastern League . . . Hurler Paul Erickson, who has been with the Chicago Cubs since 1943, was sold to the Philadelphia Phils for an undisclosed sum . . . Detroit shipped Ed Mierkowicz, former Cleveland outfielder, to Seattle of the Coast League.

Blatnik Extends Streak

Phil Rookie Johnny Blatnik tripled in the ninth against Chicago to extend his hitting string to 10 straight games . . . His movie chore completed in Hollywood where he has been acting as technical advisor on "The Babe Ruth Story," Ruth headed for New York . . . Tommy O'Brien, former Cracker now with Birmingham, belted two homers as the Barons topped New Orleans, 7-4 . . . The Giants released Infielder Buddy Blattner to Jersey City.

Pitcher Ray Harrell, of the Memphis Chicks, has been suspended indefinitely for breaking training rules. Alex Danelishen has been recalled from Muskegon, Okla., to replace Harrell. . . . Ewell Blackwell, out of action since May 7 with a pulled shoulder muscle, will rejoin the Reds in New York, but won't be able to pitch for several weeks.

On Trust Is Beaten

With Pleasure whipped the favorite On Trust in the $25,000 Inglewood Handicap as Hollywood Park opened its 50-day season. . . . Bear Bryant, University of Kentucky football coach, is suffering from a virus infection in a Louisville Hospital. . . . Wilbur Shaw, President of the Indianapolis Speedway, estimates that the total payoff will be $160,000 now that accessory companies have offered prizes of $42,575. . . .

Turpin Wins in Ring

COVENTRY, England, May 18 (AP)—Dick Turpin, 28-year-old Negro, Tuesday night won the British Empire middleweight title by knocking out Champion Bos Murphy, of New Zealand, in 2:55 of the first round.

Snoddy Runs In AAU Meet

ATHENS, May 18—Georgia's prize freshman hurdler, Bob Snoddy, will enter the Southeastern AAU track meet at Georgia Tech Saturday unattached, Coach Spec Towns announced Tuesday.

Snoddy was the State high and low hurdle king in his native Indiana last Spring. His winning times were 14.3 in the high school highs, and 22 flat in the prep lows. Saturday's contest will be his debut in Southern competition.

The seven Bulldogs who competed in Birmingham's SEC carnival last week also will compete Saturday, headed by J. B. Farr, second-place winner in the loop high jump.

Buck Bradberry, fifth in the broad jump, also will run the hurdles. Others are Capt. Ken McCall, who'll pole vault and run the 100; Hugh Bates, dashes; Ben Sutton, 220 and 440; Bob Cramer, 880 and mile, and Fred Marshall, discus.

Francis Guido also will enter the weights, and Jim Ehrlich, Augusta, will compete unattached in the discus event.

Tulane Justified In Stand--Writer

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 18—(AP)—Sports Editor Fred Russell, of the Nashville Banner, who Monday said Tulane may withdraw from the SEC over a grants-in-aid controversy, followed up Tuesday with the opinion that "Tulane has plenty of justification for its stand."

Russell said in his "Sidelines" column:

"I would like to add, for whatever it's worth, that in my opinion Tulane has plenty of justification for its stand on the question of proper handling of grants-in-aid to athletes.

"Tulane acted in full faith in accepting a letter from Acting Commissioner N. W. Dougherty in October to mean that athletic scholarships awarded under the old system would not be honored. In fact, there was no other interpretation to be placed on the letter.

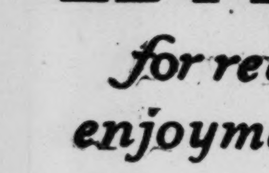

Babe Denied Play On PGA Course

ST. LOUIS, May 18—(AP)—Mrs. Mildred (Babe Didrickson) Zaharias put in an appearance Tuesday at Norwood Hills Country Club, site of the PGA tournament, but was given the cold shoulder when she wanted to play.

An attempt was made to arrange a match between the Babe and a newspaperman but a tournament official pointed out that the course was reserved for entrants in the championship event starting Wednesday.

'SERVICE SALUTE'

AAA Honors Polio Victim

A plucky little Atlantan, Shirley "Dimples" Stevens, received nationwide publicity through the May issue of American Motorist, publication of the American Automobile Association Motor Clubs.

Ten-year-old Shirley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Stevens, of 813 Harold St., S. E., is cited in an article titled "A Salute for Service." The article, paying tribute to AAA School Safety Patrols, tells how Shirley, despite a brace on her leg, has been active in school safety patrol work.

The little polio victim made the School Safety Patrol trip to Washington, D. C., last year as a guest of Atlanta police. This year she was under treatment in the Henrietta Egleston Hospital for Children at the time of the trip.

Shirley is a fourth-grader at Faith School. The American Motorist articles declares of the Atlantan: "Her devotion to duty is typical of thousands of youngsters who perform a similar service at school crossings from coast to coast."

Stock Prices Melt Near Closing Hour

NEW YORK, May 18—(AP)—The stock market took its first spill since May 5 Tuesday when heavy profit taking sales poured into the Exchange in the last few minutes of trading.

Closing pices were down a few cents to as much as $3 a share.

Selling expanded so rapidly near the finish of the day that the high-speed ticker tape was unable to keep up with floor transactions. Total volume of 2,480,000 shares compared with 3,050,000 shares Monday.

The setback had been more or less expected in Wall Street. The financial district has been run ragged in the last few trading days in an effort to keep up with tremendous demand from all parts of the country which sent the general level of prices to the highest point since August, 1946.

Outstanding stocks marked down included U. S. Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, International Harvester, Kennecott Copper, American Can, Westinghouse Electric.

Composite quotations for soft and semi-hard hogs at the major plants were as follows: Medium to choice barrows and gilts, 180 to 240 pounds, $19 to $19.75, with some closely sorted long-hauls around $20. Other weights 240 to 270 pounds, $18 to $19.25; over 270 pounds, $17 to $18.75; 160 to 180 pounds, $18 to $19.25; 140 to 160 pounds, $16 to $17.50; 120 to 140 pounds, $12 to $14.50. Medium and good sows were $15 to $17. Practical limit in the area was $20.50 for good and choice 180 to 240-pound soft and semi-hard barrows and gilts, well-shrunk, and in some instances for hard finished.

The cattle market in the Georgia-Florida-Alabama area was generally strong to $1 higher for most classes, with a scant supply of fleshy and fat cattle going as much as $2 higher than a week ago. Good fed slaughter steers and heifers of from 500 to 900 pounds or more brought $26.50 to $30, with one good 520-pound fed Brahman heifer bringing $30.50 at a central Florida market. Medium grade slaughter animals were quoted at $23 to $27; common, $18 to $23.

CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, May 18—Hogs ran up price gains of 25 to 75 cents generally today, but the advance faded toward the close with some selling at only steady values. Cattle were steady to 25 cents higher and sheep steady

Most good and choice butchers hogs sold between $17.75 and $23.00 with the early top at $23.25 and the late peak at $22.50. Sows were $15.50 to $17.00.

New Orleans Cotton Drops $1.60 to $2.50 Bale

NEW ORLEANS, May 18—Cotton futures declined here today under profit taking from the long side along with selling on favorable crop reports. Closing prices were barely steady $1.60 to $2.50 a bale lower.

The July position was the weakest month on the board. This was attributed to liquidation by traders who had been talking recently of widening differences between July and October.

Some of today's selling was influenced by smaller-than-expected April consumption figures of 829,730 bales. The trade had been expecting around 860,000 bales.

Long liquidation increased after issuance of the Government's weekly crop review. Most observers considered the crop report favorable.

AVERAGE COTTON PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, May 18—The average price of middling 15/16ths-inch cotton today at 10 designated Southern spot markets was $2.85 a bale lower at 37.51 cents a pound; average for the past 30 market days 37.68; middling 7/8ths-inch average 34.78.

SUGAR FUTURES

NEW YORK, May 18—Domestic sugar futures registered small losses in slow dealings today. Scattered liquidation, influenced partly by easiness in raw sugar, met indifferent trade demand. World sugar futures declined slightly on profit-taking. Raw sugar was quiet, with refiners showing little buying interest. Demand for refined was fair. Domestic sugar futures No. 5 closed 2 to 4 lower, sales 52 contracts.

State Chamber Votes Aid to Ports Group

Directors of the Georgia State Chamber of Commerce Tuesday voted to appoint a committee to cooperate with the recently organized State Ports Development Association to increase the foreign trade of Georgia through the ports of Savannah and Brunswick. This action followed a speech by Gen. R. F. Fowler, Executive Director of the State Port Authority.

The Directors also took steps to confer with Paul Hoffman, ECA Director at Washington, in reference to the shipment of ERP goods through Georgia ports. A committee representing South Atlantic and Gulf ports had a similar conference with Hoffman Tuesday.

Gen. Fowler urged the State Chamber of Commerce to get behind the movement to put the credit of the State behind the proposed $15,000,000 bond issue to build up the ports of Savannah and Brunswick.

Under present conditions, the State-owned and State-operated ports at Charleston, S. C., Mobile, Ala., and New Orleans are getting the traffic which should go either to Savannah or Brunswick.

"In 1940, most of the docks at both Charleston and Savannah were privately owned," he said. "In that year, the total commerce of Charleston was 2,260,000 tons and the Savannah commerce was 3,880,000 tons.

"Early in 1946, a State-sponsored Commission took over most of the docks at Charleston and in that year Charleston's commerce was 4,850,000 tons and Savannah's was 2,600,000 tons. We cannot allow that trend to continue and to get Georgia on the beam we must obtain a constitutional amendment pledging the credit of the State to our $15,000,000 bond issue to build up our ports."

The meeting voted to defer action on a proposal to make a study of Georgia's highway system and the way it operates. It also accepted the invitation of the Savannah Chamber of Commerce to attend the 100th anniversary celebration of that body in Savannah May 31.

U. S. Imports Below Par, Trade Chief Says

International trade "can mean the difference between red and black in our national economy and prevent a recurrence of the dreary downward spiral of 1929," Clay L. Shaw, General Manager of New Orleans' International Trade Mart, declared here Tuesday.

C. L. SHAW

"The United States is not importing enough," he warned a joint meeting of the Atlanta World Trade Council and the Kiwanis Club. "The tariff walls around our country must be broken down, and we must continue reciprocal trade agreements."

The speaker outlined a program being undertaken to promote New Orleans' leadership in foreign trade. He declared the program would benefit Atlanta and other Southeastern cities by providing a greater market outlet for Georgia goods.

Shaw said New Orleans' campaign includes plans "to obtain more air links between the nation's largest commercial airfield and our Latin-American neighbors" and an $82,000,000 "straight channel" project from New Orleans to the Gulf.

The address was part of Georgia's observance of World Trade Week, officially proclaimed by Acting Gov. Thompson as May 16 to 22.

The World Of Business

RAILWAY DIRECTORS — Stockholders of the Southern Railway meeting Tuesday in Richmond, Va., reelected the following directors: Robert M. Hanes, banker, of Winston-Salem, N. C.; Leverett F. Hooper, banker, of New York City; Hugh Morrow, President of Sloss Sheffield Steel and Iron Co.. Birmingham; and Knight Woolley, banker, of New York City. Their terms expire in 1951.

Ernest E. Norris, Southern's President, reported gross revenues for the first three months of 1948 were $61,301,000 as compared with $56,376,000 for the same period of 1947. Net operating income for the period, he said, was $7,121,000 as compared with $4,560,000 for a similar period last year.

NEW AUTO TIRE—P. P. Harding, Manager of Goodyear Service here, Tuesday announced the introduction of a new line of Marathon tires for passenger automobiles. "They provide excellent mileage and traction at prices averaging substantially less than those now prevailing for most tires in comparable sizes," said Harding. The original Marathon line, introduced in 1938, was discontinued in 1942 due to war conditions. Marathon is now returning to the field.

BANK HONORS—J. W. Means, Vice President of the Trust Company of Georgia, Atlanta, was elected Chairman of the Southern Group of the Investment Bankers Association of America at its Spring meeting held recently in Ocean Springs, Miss. Hugh D. Carter, Jr., of Courts & Company, Atlanta investment bankers, was elected Secretary-Treasurer. The Southern Group comprises the states of Georgia, South Carolina, Alabama, Mississippi, Florida, Louisiana and a portion of Tennessee.

ELECTION TODAY AT GEORGIA TECH

It's election day on the Georgia Tech campus—and 4,500 students will go to the polls to choose 24 Student Council representatives from 78 candidates.

H. M. Todd, President of Student Council, said voting machines made available by Fulton County would be used for the balloting for the third consecutive year. He pointed out that Georgia Tech is probably the only school in the country to use voting machines in campus elections.

Oilman Is Successor to Sen. Overton

BATON ROUGE, La., May 18—(AP)—Gov. Earl K. Long Tuesday named William C. Feazel, independent oil and gas producer of Monroe and Shreveport, United States Senator from Louisiana to succeed the late Sen. John H. Overton.

The Governor said he would support his nephew and executive counsel, Russell Long, if young Long decided to run for the post in November.

Young Long, when asked if he would run, said:

"I'm not going to announce today. Ask me that in about six weeks."

The appointment of Feazel is for the interim until the results of the General Election in November are tabulated.

Gov. Long said his administration would back Sen. Allen Ellender for reelection in the election this year. Ellender was in Long's office Tuesday and congratulated Feazel on his appointment.
